IN PEACE PACT . . .

Thieu Ready To Let VC Enter Politics

New York Times Service

Saigon — President Nguyen Van Thieu is reliably reported to be ready to integrate members of the Viet Cong National Liberation Front into the political life of South Vietnam as part of an over-all peace settlement.

He is known to have been discussing with his advisers in recent weeks possible ways in which members of the front might be permitted to compete in elections as members of a titularly non-Communist opposition.

In anticipation of a future political struggle against the front, Thieu is also about to assume personal control of an expanded government party.

To Accept Leadership

During April, according to sources close to Thieu, the president will accept the personal leadership of an enlarged version of the People's Alliance for Social Revolution, a pro-government political organization formed last year.

An extraordinary convention of the alliance is expected to be held in Saigon during the month to select Thieu as chairman of its presidium. Additional South Vietnamese political factions are also expected to be accepted into the alliance in an effort to broaden the base of the government.

Thieu's closest advisors have been urging him for several months to take a personal initiative in creating a political organization that could compete with the NLF.

Assumption

They and Thieu are working on the assumption that some form of political participation of the front in South Vietnam will be part of a peace settlement negotiated in Paris.

The president first raised this possibility publicly in his news conference Tuesday. In answering a rhetorical question of his own, he said that it might be possible for members of the NLF to form a party in South Vietnam and participate in elections.

But he added that the new party could not be a "Communist party as such," and that the conclusion of such an arrangement would depend on the attitude of the other side in the Paris peace talks.

Must Change Form

At another point in his news conference, the president specified that the front would have to dissolve itself and become "another political party."

"We can never have an official Communist Party in South Vietnam," he said. "Our constitution forbids it."

Despite these reservations, the president is understood to be prepared to accept the participation of mempers of the front in elections. This has been confirmed in interviews with several of his advisors, senior American diplomats and members of the South Vietnamese delegation to the Paris talks during return trips to Saigon.

In a recent conversation with one of these sources, Thieu ventured the guess that the members of the front would be unable to win more than 15-to-20 seats in a free election for the 197-seat national assembly.

Flapping Scarecrows Are Learning

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Fifth grade children "flapped in the wind" pretending to be scarecrows. Others rushed around the room as if they were the wind. Some played crows hopping up and down as if they had been "scared" away.

Physical education exercise or a dance class?

No, the activity was creative drama used to teach language arts skills.

The experimental program recently conducted at Hawthorne School, included an after-school demonstration project attended by some 20 fifth-grade volunteers and an in-service training course taken by 10 of the elementary school teachers.

Headed By Created

Dr. Eloise Hayes, who developed and introduced creative drama into the elementary English program at the University of Hawaii five years ago, directed the project. She is in Lincoln for the school year participating in the Tri-University Project at the University of Nebraska.

Federally financed, the Tri-University project was established to develop improved methods for the training of teachers. NU is focusing on English, the University of Washington is working on social studies and New York University is working on educational psychology.

Miss Hayes developed creative drama as an "answer to a need for more classroom activities which allow children to think and to express thought in language and action."

The drama about scarecrows was actually created by the children who later did the acting. Led by Miss Hayes, the 10-year-olds talked about scarecrows and discussed their appearance, their dependence on wind to move, how they flop and jerk in the wind and how they hang limp when the wind dies away.

"The children learned the real value of cooperation in such a scene," she pointed out.

The performance included every child in attendance with several playing each part when necessary. "Real learning takes place when a child is bursting with enthusiasm for participation," according to Miss Hayes.

Cooperate

"As actors, children learn that they can succeed in doing something and that they can cooperate with others," she explained.

The basic goal for the experimental class was to develop imaginative and analytical thinking. Immediate goals were to develop better oral expression, vocabulary, listening habits and to delight in expression through speech and movement.

"Because the activity itself is enjoyable, all these learnings are reinforced," she added.

Primary Vehicle

Miss Hayes believes that dramatic activity is the "primary vehicle" for developing thought and language. Dr. Paul Olson, director of the Tri-University Project, has indicated that in many schools, drama will become the center of the English program, she said.

Extension Asked For 10% Surtax

. . . INFLATION TO BE FOUGHT

Washington (AP) — President Nixon, formally asking a one-year extension of the 10% income tax surcharge, told Congress Wednesday he's caught in a budget bind but will try to outdo the Johnson administration in holding down federal spending.

Nixon held out the possibility in a special message that the surtax could yet be repealed if the Vietnam war ends and inflationary pressures ease.

Nixon, detailing what he termed a fundamental counterattack against the "economic aggression" of inflation, said the budget outlook has deteriorated since former President Lyndon B. Johnson submitted spending and revenue estimates in January.

But even while reporting that half the Johnson-envisioned budget surplus next year of $3.4 billion would disappear under present circumstances, Nixon pledged vigorous economies with the aim of winding up even further in the black than his predecessor had anticipated.

Administration sources suggested Nixon will aim for a budget surplus of at least $4 billion in the 1970 fiscal year that begins July 1. To achieve that, they suggested, he would have to chop federal spending programs by $2.5 billion or more.

Congress' Price

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said Congress' price for extending the surtax should be a $10 billion cut in requested appropriations and a $5 billion cut in actual federal spending.

And Congress should take the responsibility of directing some of the cuts, Mansfield said in an interview, rather than leave that burden to Nixon as it did to Johnson last year when the surtax was enacted.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., and Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., both predicted Congress will approve the tax extension.

Nixon declared "the problem of inflation was neglected far too long," and said the nation cannot risk a budget barely in the black.

Surplus, Restraint

"Only a combined policy of a strong budget surplus and monetary restraint can now be effective in cooling inflation, and in ultimately reducing the restrictive interest rates forced on us by past policies," he said.

The chief executive told Congress he will "submit budget revisions which will reduce federal spending in fiscal 1970 significantly below the amount recommended in January."

Budget experts believe the Johnson January blueprint would now produce spending of $197 billion instead of the originally projected $195.3 billion. Thus Nixon promised to hold spending significantly below the $195.3 billion level.

About $9.5 Billion

In calling for a 12-month extension of the tax surcharge beyond its scheduled June 30 expiration, Nixon said this would yield $9.5 billion in revenues — an amount included in the Johnson budget.

At the same time, the President held out the hope that repeal of the surcharge might be possible before June 30, 1970.

"As I have said before," he stated, "the surcharge is a temporary tax that must be ended as soon as our commitments in Southeast Asia and economic conditions permit."

Keep Excise Taxes

Like Johnson before him, Nixon called for postponement of scheduled reductions in the 10% excise tax on telephone service and the 7% excise tax on automobiles.

He also urged enactment of new or increased charges against users of highways, airways and waterways to produce about $500 million a year — something Johnson also had favored.

These charges plus continuation of the excises would bring in nearly $1 billion in revenue next year.

NU Physics Department Granted $715,000 By Science Foundation

Washington D.C. — The University of Nebraska's department of physics has been awarded a $715,000 National Science Foundation grant under the departmental science development program, Rep. Robert V. Denney, R-Neb., announced Wednesday.

The three-year development grant will provide $458,000 for personnel and $257,000 for equipment.

The grant will be concentrated in the primary areas of atomic collisions, solid state physics, particle physics and astronomy and astro physics, according to Denney.

Under the development plan, NU will increase its faculty from 20 to 30 persons, and research equipment, post-doctoral and research associates, technicians and other supporting personnel and provide stipends for graduate research assistance.

NU received the third highest amount of 12 NSF grants awarded, reported physics department chairman Dr. Henry Valk. Only two of the grants went to physics departments. The rest were awarded in other areas of science.

NU President Dr. Joseph Soshnik declared that the $715,000 grant is "a fine tribute to the faculty in physics and to the state of Nebraska which has supported the development of staff and resources in our physical science department.

"The investments to date of Nebraska tax funds have helped greatly to enhance our position in the national competition for NSF grant funds. This grant comes only two years after a similar NSF grant to the $830,000 to our department of chemistry," he said.

$9 Million Budget Outlined By DAS

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Department of Administrative Services Monday outlined a $9 million budget for the next two years — up from $6.2 million from the current biennium — before the Legislature's Budget Committee.

"Our function," DAS Director Robert Rogers told the committee, "is to insure, as staff assistants to the governor's office, that governmental operations are conducted in the most efficient and economical manner possible."

During a three-hour session, Rogers and his division chiefs reported on progress and problems in the state's computerized budget and accounting system.

Cited accomplishments included a completely computerized state payroll, centralized accounting for many agencies, tightening of purchasing procedures and quarterly planning by agencies of their expenditures.

Rogers said plans for the next biennium include start of a division of transportation services, including a pooling of state-owned vehicles; standardization of reporting procedures on federal grants, and improved statewide inventory controls.

Under questioning by the committee, Rogers conceded the department had created the post of general services director without budget or table of organization authority.

In addition to acting general services director George Ludwig, Rogers also disclosed that Robert Marland, former state railway commissioner, has joined his office as an administrative assistant.

"It seems," Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine told Rogers, "that a lot of latitude has been taken by DAS that is not permitted other agencies."

More On Unicam
Pages 10 To 15

Budget Chairman Richard Marvel suggested, "I hope you don't give that latitude in budget controls to other agencies that you apparently have assumed for your department."

Asked about the proposed state personnel office, Rogers said he was not prepared to say whether the agency should be separate or under DAS.

A central purchasing spokesman admitted the division has two more persons than authorized, and said the governor has recommended an assistant purchasing agent and a specificiation writer be added in the next biennium.

The Telecommunications Division said the cost of the state's Phase I telecommunications system covering 24 counties would cost some $500,000 for the next biennium, and asked $150,000 for a consulting engineer's study for expansion of the system.

The committee will resume review of the department's budget on Monday.

President Makes Visit To Ailing Eisenhower

Washington (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, critically ill and failing to respond to vigorous medical treatment, received a surprise visit Wednesday night from President Nixon.

The President went to Gen. Eisenhower's bedside after a day of pessimistic reports on the general's latest illness. A spokesman for Nixon said the President and Eisenhower talked.

Nixon's personal physician, Dr. Walter Tkach, also made the automobile trip to Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's press secretary, said the President visited briefly with Eisenhower, then called on Mrs. Eisenhower and the general's son and daughter-in-law, Col. John Eisenhower and his wife Barbara.

"There has been no appreciable improvement in Gen. Eisenhower's condition since this morning's bulletin," said the latest report by Brig. Gen. Frederick J. Hughes Jr., commanding general of Walter Reed Army Hospital.

"Failure to respond to vigorous therapy over the last several days is considered to be an unfavorable prognostic sign."

Nixon returned to the White House after a trip that was not announced until the President was inside the hospital.

Sunflower State Strikes Back

Topeka, Kan. (AP) — If Iowa doesn't like the official Kansas flower, then Kansas is going to take a dim view of the state bird of Iowa.

At least that is the general import of a resolution introduced in the Kansas House of Representatives Wednesday.

The resolution by six representatives, would declare the Eastern goldfinch to be a public nuisance.

The resolution notes the Iowa legislature recently declared the sunflower to be a noxious weed.

The resolution states the Eastern goldfinch is "unattractive, bothersome and raucously noisy" and "possesses no other redeeming qualities."

The resolution proposes to make it lawful to hunt and kill the Eastern goldfinch at any time without a license.

The resolution would appear to be at wide variance with the opinions expressed in the book, "Birds of America." The book said this bird, also known as a wild canary, is one "the most casual observer can enthuse over" and "one that the bird student will never tire raving over."

Thieu Preparing For Viet Cong In Political Life

(C) New York Times News Service

Saigon —President Nguyen Van Thieu was reported Wednesday to be ready to integrate the Viet Cong National Liberation Front into the political life of South Vietnam as part of an over-all peace settlement. (More on Page 1.)

Gore Challenges ABM Policy

Washington — Sen. Albert Gore, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations disarmament subcommittee, has challenged the administration's position that the United States must protect its missile deterent force with a Safeguard antimissile defense system. In reply to statements made by Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard, Gore said the U.S. retains so strong an "overkill" capability that it need not fear a "first-strike" capability of the Soviet Union. (More on Page 2.)

Israeli Planes Raid Rest House

Beirut — A Jordanian radio broadcast reported that 18 civilians were killed and 25 wounded in an Israeli air raid on a rest house, 15 miles from the capital of Amman. King Hussein is said to have taken part in rescue operations. (More on Page 20.)

Hijackings Could Mean Boycotts

Amsterdam — A resolution intended to deter hijacking on the world's airlines by threatening boycotts and strikes was adopted here at the conference of the International Federation of Airline Pilots Association.

Pakistan Made Promise

Karachi — The new military regime of Gen. Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan has promised to make way for a constitutional government in Pakistan but has set no date. (More on Page 2.)

Extension Of Surtax Asked

Washington — President Nixon has proposed to Congress the continuation of the 10% income tax surcharge and postponement of reduction in excise taxes in a move to curtail present inflationary trends. (More on Page 1.)

Broadcasters Against FCC Policy

Washington — The nation's television and radio broadcasters ended their annual convention Wednesday afternoon with a determined campaign to persuade Congress to curb some of the policies of the Federal Communications Commission and to express mounting apprehension over political intrusion into news and entertainment programming.

Foreign Aid Decision Urged

Washington — President Nixon has been urged to decide soon whether the United States is to contribute its share toward the economic development of poorer countries or to limit its foreign aid to a token, or holding operation. The U.S. now stands as seventh on the list of donor countries, contributing about 0.5% of its national income in economic aid.

Martial Law Affords Pakistan A Quiet Day

World News

Karachi (AP) — Martial law imposed by Gen. Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan gave Pakistan its first quiet day Wednesday since the outbreak of political violence last November.

Under the threat of stiff penalties, including whipping, imprisonment and even execution, Pakistanis ended the violent antigovernment agitation that had brought this Moslem nation of 120 million to the brink of civil war.

The new military dictator assured them in a 10-minute broadcast that he aimed just at eliminating "this state of near anarchy" and preparing for free elections.

'First Task'

"My first task is to put the administration back on the rails," Yahya said. "Strikes and industrial unrest have brought the nation to the edge of an abyss. The nation has to be pulled back to safety and normal conditions have to be restored without delay."

Throughout the country, life appeared to be returning to normal. Smoke billowed again from chimneys of cotton mills and factories in Karachi's industrial area which had been closed by mobs of striking workers for the past week.

Under one of 25 martial law regulations promulgated by Yahya, anyone taking part in a strike can be sentenced by a special military court to 14 years' imprisonment.

Education officials in many cities announced that schools and colleges would reopen next week for the first time since last November. Students had walked out to lead protest marches against President a Mohammed Ayub Khan's 10-year-old regime.

Ayub, who resigned and turned over power to Yahya Tuesday, officially began three months of leave at his residence in Rawalpindi, the capital.

In his broadcast, 16 hours after taking over the reins of government, the mustachioed general pledged that he has no political ambitions.

Yahya gave no indication how long martial law would last, but he expressed the hope that power eventually would be transferred "to the representatives of the people elected freely and impartially on the basis of adult franchise."

Elections based on adult franchise, rather than through the indirect electoral college of Ayub's 120,000 Basic Democrats, had been a major demand of the opposition.

Parties Not Banned

Yahya did not ban political parties — something that Ayub had done in 1958 when martial law was last imposed, for 44 months.

East Pakistan, scene of mob violence, arson, looting and some lynchings, was reported quiet with crowds moving freely through Dacca, the provincial capital, without incident.

An indication of return to normalcy in the eastern wing, separated from the west by 1,000 miles of Indian territory, was the reopening of Dacca University — a seat of student agitation.

PACKARD . . . says ABM deters 'doomsday.'

Pentagon Deputy Trots Out Another Reason For ABM

Washington (UPI) — The Nixon administration said Wednesday an antiballistic missile system (ABM) was needed to keep the nation's offensive nuclear force from being turned into an automatic "doomsday machine" that could destroy humanity.

Deputy Defense Secretary David J. Packard produced the newest justification for deployment of the $6.6 billion Safeguard ABM system at a Senate hearing. His warning was challenged immediately by opponents of the system.

Packard argued that without an ABM, the President could be forced to push a button to destroy the Soviet Union within perhaps 20 minutes after Russian missiles were detected on radar. The ABM, he said, would give the President an additional "hedge" in making his decision whether to participate in the possible destruction of humanity.

Members of the Senate foreign relations subcommittee on disarmament rejected the argument as another Pentagon move to justify what they have called "a system in search of a mission."

Committee members said the Safeguard, under Packard's reasoning, would only give the Soviets cause to think they might attack the United States without fear of retaliation. And they contended that the President already had a "hedge" because U.S. Minuteman missiles could be disarmed in flight in the event of a mistake.

Packard said disarming in flight was not the answer because it would leave the United States without a Minuteman force.

Packard insisted that the Safeguard system, in which ABMs would be deployed to protect U.S. offensive missile sites, was only an extension of the decision of the 1950s to "harden" the missiles with concrete and steel underground silos.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said that because the Minutemen could be disarmed in flight, the President would have sufficient time to review the facts of the invasion.

2,000 North Vietnamese Maul U.S.-Led Irregulars

Saigon (AP) — In one of the biggest attacks of the current offensive, about 2,000 North Vietnamese mauled a US.-led South Vietnamese irregular battalion north of Saigon in a two-day battle that tapered off Wednesday.

The U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division sent 500 troopers into blocking positions about four miles north of the battlefield to try to cut off the North Vietnamese but lack of contact indicated they had slipped away.

Since the enemy launched the offensive Feb. 23, rarely have more than 500 or so been committed to battle at any one time. The Communist command, conserving manpower, has instead intensified the shelling of military bases and cities.

But this attempt to overwhelm a position 30 miles north of Saigon indicated that the enemy may have been trying to clear the way for an assault on the big Bien Hoa air base, 18 miles to the south. Only quick allied reaction saved the South Vietnamese from disaster.

About 10,000 U.S. soldiers have been conducting a massive sweep northwest of Saigon, looking for such units as this. There was no way of knowing whether this North Vietnamese regiment had slipped through these American lines and moved east.

In any case, the North Vietnamese showed that they still have fairly large units on the routes that lead to Saigon despite allied attempts to seek them out and destroy them.

Green Berets Wounded

Initial reports said the Mobile Strike Force battalion of about 600 irregulars lost 22 killed, more than 100 wounded and about 150 missing. Several U.S. Special Forces men working with the battalion also were wounded.

Enemy casualties were estimated at 85 dead.

The number of missing was expected to be reduced as stragglers from the mauled battalion slipped into the landing zone perimeter of a second strike force battalion shuttled in by helicopter Tuesday.

Investigation Continues In Wahoo Girl's Slaying

By DAVE ZIMMERMAN
Star Staff Writer

Wahoo — Saunders County Attorney Robert E. Sullivan said Wednesday that no warrants had been issued and no arrest had been made in connection with the fatal stabbing of a 17-year-old Wahoo girl, whose body was found early Wednesday morning in a county road ditch.

Sullivan did say, however, that many people have been questioned in regard to the death of Mary Kay Heese, a Wahoo High School junior, and that "some leads" have turned up.

MARY KAY HEESE

Miss Heese, expected home soon after school was dismissed Tuesday, was reported missing at about 7 p.m. by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Heese, a retired farm couple.

School Books Found

Sullivan said the body was found at about 1 a.m. by Wahoo police officer Ernest Patzloff, at a spot where a passing motorist had reported finding some school books near a road about three and one-half miles southeast of Wahoo.

The body was a short distance from the books, and although the farmer did not notice it when he picked up Miss Heese's textbooks, said Sullivan, "there was no apparent attempt to conceal the body."

Sullivan said the girl was reportedly seen unaccompanied in a local cafe shortly after school let out and was last sighted standing alongside a highway which passes through the town.

The girl's body was fully clothed when found, said Sullivan, except for shoes which were found in the near vicinity.

She was wearing cut-off blue jeans, a gray sweatshirt and brown coat, Sullivan commented, which she had earlier worn to a girls' track meet during the last period of the school day.

Autopsy Performed

An autopsy performed at University Hospital in Omaha by Dr. John Scott showed that the girl died of "multiple stab wounds from a sharp instrument," Sullivan said.

High school officials described Miss Hesse as a "nice girl" and said she was a member of the school pep club.

FFA INVESTIGATOR . . . Gerald Heaton, Lincoln, photographs wreckage of plane found on Anselmo ranch.

Federal Officials Probe Small Plane Wreckage

Anselmo (AP) — Federal officials began probing the wreckage Wednesday of a light plane, missing since Jan. 11, which two coyote hunters found Tuesday evening on a ranch 12 miles west of here.

A trail of papers on the ground and hanging on fences led the hunters, Leonard Christen and Marvin Hazen, to the ruptured aircraft and six bodies on the ranch operated by Bill McGrew about 10 miles from the plane's last known position.

The ranch on which the wreckage was found is owned by Lincolnite Willis N. Brainard, 5219 Leighton.

Killed in the crash were six persons from Augustana College at Sioux Falls, S.D.

The six, two faculty members and four students, were returning to Sioux Falls from a debate tournament at Colorado Springs, Colo.

The victims were identified as pilot, Frayne Anderson, 43, and Don Tibetts, 34, both faculty members from Sioux Falls; and Linda Heidemann, 20, of Rapid City, S.D.; Joyce Estwick, 21, Milan, Minn.; Al Jensen, 18, Pipestone, Minn.; and James Houske, 18, Shawnee Mission, Kan.

Plane Disintegrated

Jerry Rohl, owner of the Business Flying Service of Sioux Falls which had leased the plane to the group, examined the wreckage Wednesday and said it appeared the plane disintegrated in the air while plunging toward the ground at a very high rate of speed.

Custer County Atty. Earl Johnson of Merna described it as a "severe crash. There is no question that all six died instantly."

Officials reported that plans were formulated soon after the discovery of the wreckage for an investigation, including Federal Aviation Agency personnel from Lincoln and Kansas City and representatives of the National Transportation Safety Board.

Nebraska News

Rubble Exposed

Christen, 46, said the wreckage apparently had been covered by snow at one time but that the snow had melted, exposing the rubble on a slight sandy slope about four miles from the nearest road.

The Nebraska Civil Air Patrol said the six bodies were thrown clear of the plane with the engine buried in the sand about 20 yards from the tail.

A massive land and air search followed the disappearance of the plane but inclement weather constantly hampered the search.

In Pierre, S.D., Wednesday, Gov. Frank Farrar extended condolences on behalf of all South Dakotans to the families and friends of the victims.

He thanked the many people who aided in the three-month search for the missing plane.

Colon Pilot Vasina Declares 224th Mission 'Best One Yet'

Saigon (AP) — U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom pilots were reported to have destroyed or damaged seven fortifications and six water craft in a raid Tuesday south of Da Nang.

Two of the pilots were Maj. Howard R. Vasina, 36, of Colon, Neb., and Maj. John R. Childers, 34, of Shreveport, La.

"We were scrambled to work with a forward air controller (FAC) who had been watching the area for some time," Vasina said. "When he flew over the area Tuesday morning, he spotted approximately 200 Viet Cong in the open. When we arrived on target, he marked specific areas he wanted us to concentrate on.

"After our bombing passes, we worked the area over with cannons. During a strafing pass, we hit the watercraft after the FAC directed us on them. The forts covered an area about five or six city blocks long. As we left, we could see that more than two-thirds of the area was destroyed or badly damaged. This was my 224th combat mission and the best one yet."

Summary Of Conditions

A low pressure center around Lake Winnipeg is moving eastward with a cold front out of a low to near North Dakota and then curving northwestward. By noon Thursday, a cold front will be centered over north central Minnesota to central North Dakota to a low in north central Montana with the front continuing northward. This Montana low is expected to late drop southeastward rapidly.

Fair to partly cloudy skies expected Thursday with little change in temperatures. Warmer locally. Variable cloudiness Thursday night and Friday, turning colder over much of northern portion of Nebraska and western Iowa area Thursday night. Chance of some light wet snow Thursday night and Friday.

100 Students Stage Protest At North High

Omaha (AP) — Some 100 students walked out of Omaha's North High School Wednesday in a protest apparently stemming from the dismissal of two students last Monday.

Some of the students later got into cars and circled the school until police arrived. Police took names of the students in the cars but no arrests were made.

Several students said they were protesting the dismissal earlier this week of Terry Murtaugh, 18, a senior at North High.

Principal Harold Reeves said Murtaugh, who is white, and Karl Webb, 17, a Negro, were dismissed after they fought in the school. He said such dismissals are normal procedure until school officials confer with the student's parents.

Shoving Match

Reeves said the trouble began shortly after 8 a.m. when a shoving match involving Negro and white students developed in a hall. The incident lasted about 10 minutes.

Reeves said five students suffered bruises and one was sent home.

Supt. Owen A. Knutsen said he and other school officials would meet with each of the students who walked out before the students would be permitted to return to school.

"I don't care what the walkout stemmed from," Knutzen said. "The point of the matter is they walked out of school."

Box Butte Unit OKs Hemingford Merger Proposal

Hemingford (AP) — Box Butte County School Reorganization Committee has approved the Hemingford K-12 school district reorganization proposal on a 3-2 vote. The proposal now will go to the State Reorganization Committee.

The committee received a written opinion from County Atty. Laurice Marghaim indicating that bonded indebtedness may remain in the present district where it now exists.

The proposed reorganization would combine seven Box Butte County rural districts and the city district of Hemingford.

The new district would have 539 youngsters from ages 1 through 18 and the assessed valuation for tax purposes would total $6,565,300.

Norfolk To Host Recreation, Park Meeting In May

Norfolk — This city will be the site for the annual meeting of the Nebraska Recreation and Park Association May 8 and 9.

Clarence Shafer of Omaha, president, states that this year's conference will be designed to aid the smaller communities in organizing recreation and park programs. He said various community leaders throughout the state are being invited to appear on the panels at the conference.

Curtis To Rally Support For Educational Lab

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., has agreed to rally congressional support for the Rocky Mountain Educational Laboratory, a project scheduled to be phased out by the Office of Education.

He said he will prepare a "round robin" letter, to be signed by senators and congressmen from the eight-state region served by the laboratory, requesting a 15-minute conference with Secretary Robert Finch of health, education and welfare.

Spokesmen for the laboratory also urged members of Congress to require that their project, along with four others disapproved by the Office of Education, be continued. This could be accomplished in HEW's appropriation bill, it was suggested.

The laboratory at Greeley, Colo., was one of 20 established around the country in recent years to study special educational problems. It is working with schools in an eight-state region on two projects — occupational education, a program intended to prepare all school children to hold jobs, and individual learning disabilities.

The Rocky Mountain region laboratory was funded last year at $700,000. But the proposed budget earmarks only $350,000 for it, a sum Henry Freed, Chadron, Neb., chairman of the laboratory's board of directors, said is intended to phase out the project by Aug. 31.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Some years ago, there was little choice for the parents or relatives of retarded children. They could keep their children at home or they could send them to the Beatrice State Home. Today, there are in Lincoln and Lancaster County some nine agencies or operations devoted to the care of the retarded.

This has been quite a drastic change and it will be accelerated if the Legislature passes LB855 which was heard and held by the Public Health and Welfare Committee this week. The intent of LB855 is to provide locally based services for the handicapped.

Thus, it would move us further away yet from the institutional concept as practiced at Beatrice. It should be pointed out that this is not a criticism of the Beatrice home.

The Beatrice home has served a much needed purpose and would continue to do so, even for many years beyond the implementation of LB855. But the Beatrice home is overcrowded. The home meets less than 50 per cent of national accreditation standards.

Again, this is not a criticism of the home itself, but a reflection of the fact that Nebraska simply has not progressed as it should in the field of mental retardation—a criticism that, unfortunately, can be leveled against many areas of operation.

At Beatrice are some 200 residents from Lincoln, many of whom will be returned to programs within the community of Lincoln if LB855 is passed. This same thing is true of Douglas County which has some 640 residents at Beatrice.

Additionally, there are thousands of handicapped throughout Lancaster County who are now simply receiving no assistance. If the proper local facilities were provided, many of these people could be advanced to a much more rewarding way of life than they will now experience.

With its various programs for the educable, trainable, severely and profoundly handicapped children, Lincoln now has the super-structure through which care under LB855 could be provided. This super-structure is found within the framework of the Capital Association for Retarded Children, the Lincoln School District and Educational Service Unit 16, Goodwill Industries and county government.

LB855 would establish the means by which regional service centers could be provided to work with the local organizations. Funds would come down to the local level from state, county and federal government.

This would bring into the retarded program in Nebraska federal funds that are not now being realized. Also, it would equalize, to a large extent, the burden of providing such facilities.

This latter is one of the problems now faced in mental retardation. Financial responsibility at Beatrice for the retarded goes back to parents or relatives but it is enforced with varying degrees among the counties.

Regardless of anything else, the Legislature ought to provide a system whereby institutional expenses are more broadly shared by all citizens.

If we can also move toward greater local responsibility in the care of the retarded, we would reach more of those in need and greatly improve our service to them.

Under the kind of institutional approach we have relied upon, the retarded cannot get the advanced and specialized care which they need and which society has the knowledge to provide them. There remains much to be learned about the care of the retarded but we are not yet applying in Nebraska all that is already known.

From both a humanitarian and economic point of view, it is obvious that LB855 offers tremendous potential in the field of mental retardation.

Many Students Forming Own Counter-Revolutions

NEW YORK — After puting up with revolutionary riots and marches and police raids for a year or two, the apathetic students are beginning to stage their own counter-revolutions.

They just don't like the idea of a small minority — many of them not even students —lousing up their college educations.

It's difficult to be a "militant moderate," but it looks like that's what's happening.

At Michigan State some 10,000 students signed a petition deploring "intimidation, violence and disruption."

San Fernando Valley State students backlashed after rioters burned the administration building, and formed the United California Students for an Academic Environment to let everybody know they're "sick and tired of being pushed around by a little bunch of militants."

At Duke University, which has had its troubles of late, there was a sign on the library reading: "Boycott Classes." Underneath someone had scratched: "Boycott Radicals."

Wilberforce University, a Negro school in Ohio, tried it the big-business way. They hired a professional labor arbitrator to settle differences between the students, faculty and administration. It worked.

At Wichita State University kids who'd had enough formed SPASM (Society for Prevention of Asinine Student Movements) and kicked off their campaign with a "milk-in" to signify a "peaceful, intelligent and legal" protest of protests.

And a group of Marines studying at Purdue held a drive to collect 500 pints of blood for hospitals, one way for more cautious students to speak out.

Various chapters of the misnamed Students for a Democratic Society, one of the wilder protest groups, are getting their lumps, too. At Stanford and at the University of Texas students formed a conservative Young Americans for Freedom—a movement to oppose the SDS.

And at the University of Oklahoma, after a group of black students had demanded a 20 per cent black enrollment next year, and a black head coach for a major sport, and an all-black dorm, etc., the least-militant group of all tried a tongue-in-cheek counterattack.

Handicapped students demanded: a handicapped vice-president, a wheel-chair-bound track coach, and a student body by 1973 which is 50 per cent handicapped. They threatened a "roll-in" if their demands were not met.

Jewish students there demanded: an Israeli army general in charge of Jewish student affairs, "wholesale rates" for enrollment, and a Kosher kitchen.

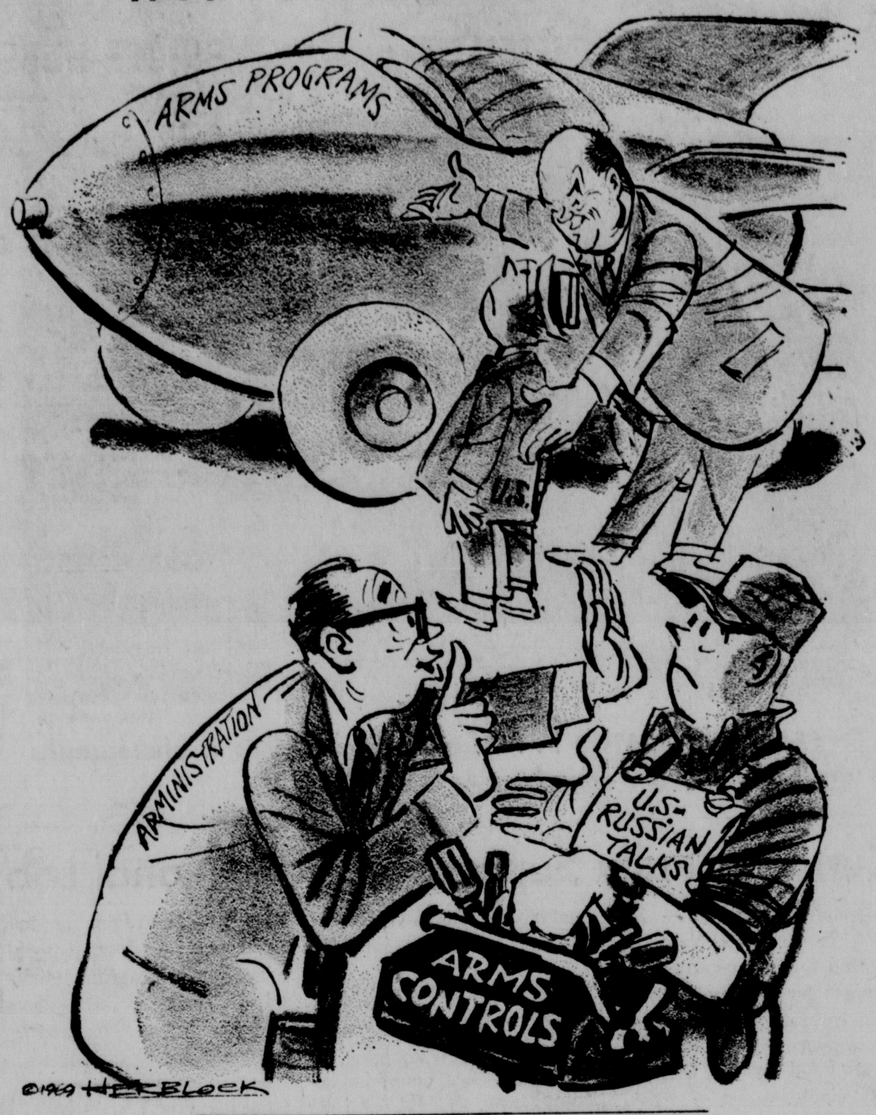
'We'll Put The Brakes In Later'



Medical Aid Failure

Judging from press reports, the Nixon administration would like to write an end to the current Hill-Burton program of aid to hospital construction. Without this program, it can be recalled, most communities in Nebraska would be severely short of needed hospital facilities.

The administration plans to substitute a loan program for the current outright grant program. It would be simply a loan guarantee and no interest subsidy by the government. Grants in a reduced amount would go to expand clinics, neighborhood health centers, skilled nursing homes and other non-hospital facilities.

It was argued that by channeling the grants into those areas, pressures on hospitals would be eased and medical costs reduced. This sounds like something dreamed up by someone in an ivory tower.

Is there a major metropolitan area in the country that is not already desperately short of such non-hospital facilities? And the shortage stems from a demand beyond anything related to hospitals. Additional non-hospital facilities will be filled with those not now receiving care, not those now in hospitals.

The loan program to hospitals for construction purposes would be of absolutely no value to many needy institutions. The fact is that most new hospital construction is already heavily financed by credit, even with Hill-Burton aid. It does no good to offer additional credit to an institution whose operation can hardly manage to pay off the indebtedness it already has.

What elimination of Hill-Burton grants would do is further curtail the construction of needed new hospital facilities. If anything, this would increase, not decrease, the cost of medical care. The Nixon medical care program would be a gigantic failure.

A Matter Of Interest

The Legislature has by now pretty well sounded the death knell for any reduction in the legal limit on interest rates. The top rate will stay at 30 per cent in the small loan field and up to about 18 per cent in areas of general retail credit.

Arguments for retaining these high rates ran to the theory that the rates permitted a service to borrowers who otherwise could obtain no credit. The higher risk borrower naturally must pay a higher rate of interest.

We find it most difficult to understand what service is performed for someone by giving them a 30 per cent interest rate. As the fellow says, with friends like that, who needs enemies?

One wonders if too many senators simply did not fail to give honest consideration to the average citizen. Senators are highly pressured or lobbied by lending interests but no one is in the Statehouse to carry a torch for the average citizen.

We wonder, if the average citizen were able to present his case as special interest groups can do, if he would not come out far better than he does. There is nothing wrong with the positive side of lobbying but it has a negative shortcoming in that it fails to represent the average citizen.

The individual who is stuck for 30 per cent interest rates might be a lot better off if no one did him that favor. It is highly doubtful that many would be denied the credit they need if the top rate were 20 or 22 per cent. Where no credit could be found, it is possible that none was merited. It is unfortunate that the Legislature has not been able to see the credit picture from the borrower's rather than the lender's point of view.

JAMES RESTON

Canadian Prime Minister In Visit To Capital; Advocate Of The Direct And Honest Approach

WASHINGTON — Personality is supposed to be dead in world politics. With the exception of President de Gaulle in France, and Mao Tse-Tung in China, the major governments are now run by political and economic technicians — President Nixon in Washington, Prime Minister Wilson in Britain, Prime Minister Sato in Japan, Kiesinger in West Germany, and Kosygin and Brezhnev in the Soviet Union.

The trend is fairly clear. The days of the spectacular charismatic leaders — of Churchill, Roosevelt, Stalin, Adenauer, Nehru, and the young Kennedy — are gone, and one of the last of them, Ayub Khan of Pakistan, has just stepped down, and Nasser of Egypt is in deep trouble, and Israel, which was created by the will and personality of a vibrant and eloquent man, is turning away from General Dayan and relying on quiet compromises.

The reason for this is supposed to be that the problems of the modern world are too complicated to be resolved by personality leadership and must be left to a new managerial class of political and economic mechanics, so "the cult of personality" is supposed to be in — not only in Moscow but in Washington.

It would be a brave man who would deny this trend in the world today or challenge the reasons for it, and yet the prime minister of Canada, Pierre Elliott Trudeau, came to Washington this week and demonstrated precisely the opposite — that honest talk, a sense of humor, a sense of history, and a sense of pity for the poor and understanding for the young — are still wonderfully powerful forces in world politics.

The Canadian prime minister cut across all the conventional assumptions of Washington politics. He told officials, politicians and the press here that he loved this country but didn't agree with it about China, or Cuba, or Vietnam, or trade, and insisted that the way to deal with dangerous political differences — whether between English and French Canada or Washington and Peking, or Havana, or the American North or South, black and white — was to open up ways to talk and talk honestly about all these differences.

He demonstrated in Washington what is meant by the understandings and the differences between good neighbors. He told the press in Washington that Canada and the United States shared a common interest in hockey and Charlie Brown, but differed about China and Cuba. In short, he had the sentimentality to tell us that he cared about this country but also the courage to tell us that he differed with us on many other questions, and the reaction in Washington was precisely what it always has been when somebody comes here with the guts and ability to say what he thinks.

Prime Minister Trudeau had a kind of triumph in the process and it is interesting to analyze why. He cut across the savage arguments here over the big issues of East and West relations, and suggested by logic and wit that maybe the truth didn't lie with extremes, but ought to be discussed openly and honestly by everybody concerned.

Canada, he suggested, would live as a friendly neighbor with the United States, but at the same time had to recognize that the Chinese were a quarter of the human race and couldn't quite be ignored. Cuba might be a nuisance to Washington, but Canada couldn't quite believe it was a menace to mankind. He wasn't dogmatic about either point, but he suggested gently that it wasn't entirely stupid to consider his point of view.

This kind of honest personal talk Washington hasn't heard for a long time. It has been put forth from time to time, with less grace and eloquence, in the American Congress and in the American press. But here was the prime minister of Canada saying sensible things in a sincere and even casual way, and it obviously made a mark.

What effect Trudeau had on President Nixon in their private conversations is much harder to analyze, for the facts are not known. Both are new in the jobs. Both have savage problems and divisions within their countries. But the Canadian prime minister demonstrated in Washington that frank discussion is good politics, and this is not the kind of point Nixon is likely to miss.

Dr. Donald Gatch

Gretna, Neb.

The Star's editorial concerning Dr. Donald Gatch (Mar. 21) should interest many people in helping to correct the inhuman conditions under which many Americans are existing.

This fine man has heard the words of Our Lord, "Amen, I say to you, as long as you did it for one of these, the least of my brethren, you did it for me."

Would it be possible for The Star to print the address of this great American?

The Handicapped

Lincoln, Neb.

Is there no voice or concern for the disabled in Nebraska, no effective lobbyist? It seems that all one sees in newspapers and hears by the grapevine is suspicion of the rehabilitation program, that the staff is not spending right, that they should do a better job spending, that the program is mismanaged.

Two years ago in 1967, didn't the Legislature, the budget committee and the governor cut the first budget passed in June, 1967, below the 1965 level? It was mentioned two years ago that rehabilitation had asked for over $100,000 more in state funds. Yet even the supplemental budget in July, 1967, did little more than bring the appropriation back to just above the 1965 budget.

Certainly all costs have gone up, but more to the point, certainly more disabled people want to be helped and need expert guidance and a helping hand — often financially. Could it be the $100,000 was realistic, not padding? Could it have been too conservative? My friends in the insurance business find it pays off to spend liberally to rehabilitate and get people back to working. They tell me their rehabilitants are happier people, their rehabilitants have happier homes. This, despite even some failures.

Many handicapped people have "sat" at home for nearly a year now. Others are being sent home to languish as an insufficient program lapses. These people are having a lost year — not a lost weekend! And the loss is not of their own making! Because the State Department of Education is disliked and distrusted, the needed helping hand is denied.

Is there no one, no organization to take up and regularly press their cause? Must there be more lost months and years?

Into The Ash Can

Clay Center, Neb.

Once, as a spectator only, I attended a clay-pigeon gun shoot held in the southern outskirts of Lincoln. There were a number of skilled shooters present, salesmen for various gun and ammunition companies, among them a man from Spirit Lake, Iowa.

The noise of the shooting must have disturbed a couple of mourning doves that had their nest in a nearby tree. The doves flew and circled near where the shooters were standing. The Iowan, to show how efficient he was as a marksman, grabbed his gun and shot the doves, first one then the other, just two shots, split seconds apart. He didn't miss. He made no effort to retrieve the doves, didn't even go to see whether they were dead or alive, nor did anyone else. The doves were left there for the crows, or if not detected by them, for the flies and maggots.

What became of the two little fledglings left in the nest? They, too, had to die lingering, painful deaths from starvation.

Some will say, "What difference does it make. The dove is only a bird." Maybe so, but it is a life, a useful life, one of nature's and God's most loved and beautiful birds. The doves do no harm, live mostly on weed seeds, nest sometimes in trees within a few feet of the house. The question is, why kill them?

The trigger-itchy, Sunday-morning gun-slinger may get a kick from shooting or shooting at the dove to see whether he could hit. Target practice — that is all LB806 amounts to, after all. It should be put in the ash can and set afire. I hope the committee will do just that.

War, In Style

Hildreth, Neb.

Hail the mighty hunter,
A great sportsman, he
Stalks the field and forest,
Hoping game to see.

A movement in the brush,
Flash of feathers bright.
Our hunter aims and misses,
On this goes till night.

Our hero is undaunted,
A law we need, says he,
Making game of turtle doves,
Easy prey, you see.

Symbol of Peace? Who cares?
War is all in style.
If we could only shoot the doves,
We'd be happy all the while.

FOR THE DOVES

LAVERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

The song of the land now is heard in the March wind. It rises out of the big farm pond to the west, then fills the sky. It is an all-consuming garbling . . . waves of sound, rolling in wild cacaphony. It is the call of the wild geese building as they rise from the water, building into a shrill crescendo of song before diminishing as they disappear into the distance. When they have gone, it leaves the myriad voices of the peepers and frogs that have awakened from their dark, mud, winter quarters.

The wind carries the sharp notes of the red-winged blackbirds, too. It is the males that have come to stake out a nesting claim in the reeds and low bushes of the swamp.

From a nearby farmyard I hear the bleating of lambs and the reassuring call of the ewes as they struggle to calm their young. Baby pigs squeal. It sends up a frenzy of excitement.

The March wind brings a mingling of new scents as the rush of new growth surges up from the burgeoning soil . . . the delightful smells of tender green grass and early meadow plants. It is good to see the dried remains of last year's growth being replaced. The old stems and blades which had borne up and withstood the crushing weight of the heavy snow have now become soggy and succumbed to the ballet of the wind . . . nutrients for another season's growth.

Oh, there is a multitude of sights and sounds disturbing the spring breeze. The road in front of our house grows busy with traffic as machinery is brought back from the shops in town where they have undergone repairs. Now and then a new tractor moves down the road as some farmer has traded for another.

Farm trucks haul the last of the baled hay to tide the cattle over until the pastures open up and they can be let out to forage for themselves. Feed trucks roar by before spring rains fill the rough tracks with water and again make the roads impassable.

I, too, come out of my winter quarters much the same way a butterfly breaks from its cocoon. The sun feels warm and good upon my back as I linger on the steps and survey my domain.

What sins the snow has hidden all winter. Now suddenly the yard seems to be in need of a cleanup job . . . raking old grass and leaves, picking up sticks and branches that have fallen from the trees and pruning others that have broken but still remain hanging in a precarious manner.

The outside windows seem to look smudged and in need of a good cleaning but I'll not venture onto a ladder until the earth has become packed from the first spring rain. I would not appreciate one leg of the ladder sinking into the soft earth and sending me sprawling into the shrubbery.

It is too early in the game to be nursing black and blue bruises. The busy spring season is at hand and I want to be right in the middle of it.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Senior Citizens' Softball Teams Thrive In Florida

By ROBERT PETERSON

Many young people still harbor the stereotyped view that folks past 70 are feeble and frail and capable of nothing more physically taxing than shuffleboard.

These youngsters would change their view if they dropped in to see the "Kids and Kubs" softball teams at St. Petersburg, Fla.

In case you don't know about these ballplayers, brace yourself for the news that they're all past 75 years of age. Members appear on the ball diamond three times a week for four months each year, and play softball games of seven innings.

This remarkable ball club was organized 39 years ago by Mrs. Evelyn B. Rittenhouse, head of a local senior citizens group. She and Dr. H. M. Emory happened to hit on the idea of asking some older men to play an exhibition game of softball just to demonstrate that advanced age doesn't necessarily keep athletic-minded men on the sidelines.

The game was so much fun for the players and such a hit with spectators that it was decided to organize the group into a ball club. Interest spread quickly and as more and more active elders joined the club the quality of the ballplaying improved. Crowds at each game increased, too — sometimes as many as 5,000 people turned up to watch the old timers whack the ball and race around the diamond for a home run!

After several successful seasons the club was incorporated under the official title of the Three-Quarter Century Softball Club. A constitution and by-laws were adopted, officers elected, and regular bi-monthly business meetings scheduled during the playing season.

Those desiring to join the club must have passed their 74th birthday and demonstrate their ballplaying proficiency in some practice games. If they look good to the captain they may then make written application stating their age and other qualifications, and must later receive a majority vote of approval from members.

Those visiting this city should go to the North Shore Softball Park any Tuesday, Thursday, or Saturday afternoon, from November 30 to April 1. Games are at 2 p.m. and admission is free. The club occasionally puts on benefit games, for which members of local organizations sell tickets with proceeds going to charity. The club also makes contributions each year to a number of different welfare groups.

Let's hope elders in other cities take the cue and organize softball teams for men past 70. We need more such teams to spread the word that advanced years need not necessarily keep sports-minded elders from participating in America's national pastime.

Gas Tax Revenue Reported

By Associated Press

Gas tax revenue for 1969 continues to run ahead of 1968, the Department of Roads reported Wednesday.

Collections for February were $4.6 million compared to $4.1 million for the same month last year. The cumulative total for the first two months of this year was $8.9 million. Some $8.3 million was collected in January and February of 1968.

The department also reported the traffic volume for February was down eight per cent from the previous year, due partially to severe blizzards causing snow and ice-packed roads.

The traffic volume on Nebraska 7 south of Ainsworth, for example, was down 31% from February of 1968.

Figures from the hard-hit northeast part of the state generally reflected less highway use.

Traffic volumes at selected points in February compared with the same month last year:

U.S. 30 west of Elm Creek, down 7%.
U.S. 77 and 275 north of Fremont, down 8%.
U.S. 6 north of Gretna, down 18%.
U.S. 20 west of South Sioux City, down 18%.
U.S. 6 and 34 west of Arapahoe, down 27%.
Lincoln city streets, between 16th and 17th at "B", up 10%.
[illegible]tate 80 at Douglas-Sarpy county up 12%.
Interstate 80 east of Overton, down 1%.
[illegible] 26 east of Scottsbluff, up 3%.
Omaha city route, Interstate 80 at 42nd St., up 5%.
Omaha city route, Dodge at 43rd Sts., down 6%.

Planners OK Zoning Change For Tall Apartment Building

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday approved a change of zone at the southeast corner of 52nd and R Sts. which would permit N. E. Copple to build a high-rise apartment building 90-feet-tall.

The change of zone from D Multiple Dwelling to E Multiple Dwelling was recommended by the commission to the City Council despite Planning Director Douglas Brogden's recommendation that the request be denied.

The vote to approve the request was 6-1, with Commissioner Steve Cook, whose architectural firm designed the high-rise, abstaining.

Robert Ailington was the lone opponent. He said he agreed with Brogden's report that the approval would have an adverse effect on the residential area to the east and would be spot zoning.

The change of zone would permit building above the 45-feet limit in D Multiple Dwelling-zoned land.

The high-rise would house some 70 families with 12 bays around the building.

10 Stories

Cook said plans call for an apartment building about ten stories high.

Commissioners voting for the change said spot zoning first occurred when the City Council approved the D Multiple classification. They said the high-rise would have no adverse effect.

The commission members, in a related motion, requested the planning department to make a study on the zoning situation involving high-rise apartments in D and E Multiple Dwelling zoned land.

Denied Two

The commission also denied two change-of-zone requests in the downtown area near the Capitol that would have permitted commercial development.

The denials were made on requests to change F Restricted Commercial land to II Commercial.

E. James Gaylord had sought a change on the southwest corner of 13th and G Sts. to build a Kentucky Fried Chicken Restaurant and the City Council requested a change on property on So. 13th between G and H Sts.

Commissioners said they wanted to protect the physical environment by the Capitol from more commercial development and keep the land attractive to apartment developments.

In other action, the commission made the following recommendations:

—Denied change of zone from K Light Industry and A-2 Single Family Dwelling to D Multiple Dwelling on property at 48th and Woodland Ave., requested by Wiltse Inc.

—Approved special permit valid for two years to construct a temporary parking lot at 19th and M Sts., requested by D. R. Blazek.

—Deferred special permit to construct community unit plan in northeast corner of 70th and Van Dorn until new plan is submitted, requested by Richard Vestecka and others.

—Approved amendment permitting certain kinds of structures under stated conditions within building lines.

—Deferred amendment to airport zoning ordinance.

—Deferred amendment to subdivision regulations.

Author B. Traven Succumbs

Mexico City (AP) — B. Traven, 79, writer of "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre" and one of the most mysterious of modern authors, died Wednesday of a heart attack.

If anyone alive knew Traven's real name and origins, he kept the secret well.

Literary speculation has raged for years over whether the publicity-shy novelist was of German or American birth, whether his first name was Bruno and whether he was in reality one of his reputed translators, Basil Creighton.

Traven, whose other works include "The Death Ship," 'The Story of an American Sailor," "The Carreta," "Government" and "The Bridge in the Jungle," refused for a long time to be published in America.

He claimed American publicity methods "reduced authors to the status of tightrope walkers, sword swallowers and trained animals."

Traven is survived by his widow, Rosa; two daughters, Elena and Maria, and a niece, Irene.

Did Youngster Seem A Mudball, Or Vice Versa?

A three-year-old Lincoln boy was described as a "little mudball" after he was pulled from a creek bed near 56th and Holdrege Wednesday afternon.

The youngster, Gregory D. Vang, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vang of 5418 Martin, was pulled from Dead Man's Run by Charles Bolus Jr., 42, of 4210 X.

Later, Gregory was admitted to Lincoln General Hospital for observation.

According to police, Bolus was sitting in a drive-in across the street when he saw the boy's mother "walking back and forth, wringing her hands."

Bolus said Mrs. Vang told him the boy had fallen into the creek and couldn't get out.

So Bolus jumped into the creek and pulled the boy out of the mud.

The boy "looked like a little mudball after he was pulled out," a police officer said.

Improvements Program Represents 'Necessities'

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

City officials told the City-County Planning Commission Wednesday that the capital improvements program for the next six years represents "necessities" costing $91.2 million.

Planning commissioners listened to city department heads explain the need for certain improvements — many of which will be paid out of funds other than general revenue — but withheld action on the program.

The program calls for $22 million more than requested last year and calls for expenditures of $15,546,060 in the 1969-70 period.

Need Revenue

Robert Obering, public works director, told the commission "we have got to have the revenue one way or another" to pay for the streets and highways projects.

Obering, who requested $21.5 million for streets and highways over the six-year period with an average of $3.5 million to be spent each year, said what money does not come from state and federal aid will have to come through revenue bonds.

He urged the commissions to individually contact the legislators to support the revenue bills now before the Unicameral.

"We will get nearly three times more than the city now gets if all revenue bills involving road aid pass," the public works director said.

Larry Fleider, speaking for the Planning Department, said the department disagrees with the proposal that South St. from 62nd St. to 70th St. be widened, resurfaced, and signalized. The project is scheduled for 1974-75.

"The widening of the street would increase traffic which we think should be discouraged in residential areas," Fleider said.

Obering disagreed and said, that the present condition of the street is "atrocious and beyond maintenance."

For Better Service

Officials of the Lincoln Electric System (LES) indicated that their request for the largest share of funds in the program — $31.2 million over the six-year period and $7.1 million for 1969-70 is needed to provide better electrical service to its customers.

The capital improvements for LES will not be paid out of the property tax dollars but out of utility revenue and revenue bonds.

Don Young, district superintendent, indicated to the commission that underground wires will likely in the future serve LES customers.

Young's remark on underground wiring came in response to questions put to him and to Peter Baird, LES manager, by Commissioner George Williamson.

Baird indicated to the commission that costs to install wires underground rather than being connected to utility poles is "quite high at this time."

Baird said LES plans to run an underground pilot project this year or next in a small area of town which has to have its electrical services rebuilt.

Tongue In Cheek

Jim Ager, director of the Parks and Recreation Department, told the commissioners his request for $7.7 million during the six-year period and $904,000 for 1969-70 was a "tongue in cheek" figure but also one that represents definite needs the department now faces.

"I decided to show in the program what our needs actually are," Ager said while indicating that the figures may not be reasonable in view of other improvements needed in the city.

Ager agreed with Fleider that more park space must be provided in areas which lack sufficient park and open space but pointed out such space is hard to come by in dense neighborhoods.

He said he met Wednesday noon with a group which has expressed an interest in possibly sponsoring a gift of land specifically to be used as a "mini-park" in a dense neighborhood area.

Wait Opposed

Fleider said the Planning Department does not look favorably on the Park and Recreation Department waiting until after 1975 to develop plans for landscaping Lagoon Park, the area now being used as a sanitary landfill.

"The city has already committed itself to the federal government to develop a comprehensive park plan and prepare the land for park, recreation, and conservation uses," the Planning Department spokesman said.

He noted that the time period will expire within the span of the six-year capital improvements program.

The City Council has already passed a resolution approving the application for federal aid to purchase the park.

Ager admitted that he has neglected the park because of "not overly being enthused about it."

5 Family Pairs Among 'A' Students At University Of Nebraska

All A's for the fall semester seemed to come in family pairs for some students on the University of Nebraska Lincoln campuses.

Five family pairs are among the 400 undergraduate students who earned an "A" average or above while carrying 12 hours or more. Two of the pairs are from Lincoln, two are from North Platte and one is from Shelton.

Two Lincoln sisters, Georgia Carole and Carla Yvonne Lowenberg earned averages of 4.125 and 4.0, respectively. Georgia, a senior, and Carla, who was a senior during the fall term, are geography majors. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Carl Lowenberg of 3103 So. 35th.

Susan Ann and Richard Leonard Hansher received averages of 4.115 and 4.033 respectively. Susan, a senior majoring in English, and Richard, a sophomore majoring in electrical engineering, are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard L. Hansher of 5320 Pioneers Blvd., in Lincoln.

A North Platte couple, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lynn Helms, were also among those with "A" averages. Mrs. Helms, the former Ellen Elaine Look, earned a 4.269 average while majoring in English and Spanish. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. William L. Look of North Platte. Her husband, a math-economics major, earned a 4.1 average. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Victor Helms. Mrs. Helms' brother, George William Look, sophomore majoring in physics, received a 4.2 average.

Linda Rae Kugler, a senior majoring in therapy, and her sister, Carolyn Kay, a sophomore majoring in elementary education, received 4.107 and 4.0 averages, respectively. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Kugler of North Platte.

A brother-sister pair from Shelton is Kenneth Lee and Kendra Lynn Schepers, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Schepers. Kenneth, a chemistry-physics major, received a 4.462 average, and Kendra, a home economics education major, received a 4.0. Both are seniors.

The highest possible grade under the University grading system is a 4.5, which is an "A+."

Ex-Marine Chief Says 'Aggressive Military' All For Jumping Into Vietnam

Washington (AP) — Gen. David M. Shoup, former Marine Corps commandant, says "an aggressive military" encouraged the Johnson administration to wage war in Vietnam in 1964 and abandon long-standing opposition to involvement in an Asian land conflict.

Shoup, as head of the Marines, was a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff for four years before that date, retiring in December 1963. He since has been a critic of the U.S. role in Vietnam.

Writing for the March 27 issue of Atlantic Monthly, Shoup portrayed "belligerent," "glory seeking" military leaders who succeeded him as competing with one another to have their services play big roles in Vietnam.

"In Vietnam during 1965," he said, "the four services were racing to build up combat strength in that hapless country."

Indicative of this eagerness, Shoup said, was the Navy's and Air Force's competitive attitude in the bombing of North Vietnam.

"The punitive air strikes immediately following the Tonkin Gulf incident in late 1964 revealed the readiness of naval air forces to bomb North Vietnam," Shoup said.

The Johnson administration ordered the first air strikes against North Vietnam after the Tonkin Gulf encounter, saying North Vietnamese gunboats had attacked U.S. vessels in the area.

Decries 'Hoax'

Shoup decried the U.S. bombing campaign as "one of the most wasteful and expensive hoaxes ever to be put over on the American people."

By early 1965, he said, the Navy and Air Force were caught up in a bombing "contest" over the North, reporting "misleading data or propaganda to serve Air Force and Navy purposes."

Shoup said the Army and Marines "played a similar game" trying to outdo each other getting troops into Vietnam.

"Top ranking Army officers," Shoup said, wanted to commit forces for a variety of reasons, among them "to test plans and new equipment, to test the new air mobile theories and tactics, to try the tactics and techniques of counterinsurgency and to gain combat experience for young officers and noncommissioned officers.

Military Motives

"The Marines had similar motivations, the least of which was any real concern about the political or social problems of the Vietnamese people," Shoup wrote. "In early 1965 there was a shooting war going on and the Marines were being lefthout of it, contrary to all their traditions."

Shoup said the Marines for years had explored the idea of conducting an amphibious operation to solve "a hypothetical aggressor-insurgency problem" in Vietnam.

'Quagmire'

In a matter of months, "the Johnson administration, encouraged by the aggressive military, hastened into what has become the quagmire of Vietnam," Shoup said.

In addition to Vietnam he cited U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic in 1965 in which the military's "contingency plans and interservice rivalry appeared to supersede diplomacy.

"Before the world realized what was happening, the momentum and velocity of the military plans propelled almost 20,000 U.S. soldiers and Marines into the small turbulent republic in an impressive race to test the respective mobility of the Army and the Marines," Shoup said. "A small 1935-model Marine landing force could probably have handled the situation."

Maine First To Alter Way Presidential Electors Vote

Augusta, Maine (UPI) — Maine has become the first state to eliminate the practice of giving all its Electoral College votes to the presidential candidate who carries the entire state.

A new law which went into effect Tuesday stipulates that one elector will be chosen from each of Maine's two congressional districts and two others will be chosen from the state at large.

The district electors must vote for whichever candidate has the winning margin in the district and the at-large electors will vote for one with the over-all popular majority.

Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis let the measure go without his signature, permitting it to become law five days after legislative passage.

Curtis said he would prefer that the president be chosen by a nationwide popular vote and the Electoral College abolished.

"I recognize the great amount of time and thought that has gone into consideration of this matter by the legislature," Curtis said. "I am therefore loathe to veto this bill because of my personal preferences."

Curtis said he felt the assumptions underlying the bill stressed the "significance of local interests" in the election of the president while he felt Maine's vote ought to be thrown into a nationwide pool.

Finger Found In Grass Seed

Hackensack, N.J. (AP) — A surprised Fair Lawn resident has appealed to Bergen County police here after finding a human finger in a bag of grass seed.

Police said the resident went to the prosecutor's office March 21 after he discovered the finger, with a wedding band around it, while gardening. The police say they have contacted authorities in Oregon where the seed was packaged.

Special Statewide Election On Amendment Is Rejected

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Wednesday, at least tentatively, turned thumbs down on a special statewide election this year to consider a proposed constitutional amendment to remove the ceiling on county property tax levies.

Sen. Terry Carpenter's motion to submit the proposal to a special election prevailed on a 26-10 vote.

But, since the bill proposing the amendment has not yet been discussed by the Legislature and would require 40 approving votes to receive special election consideration, Wednesday's action appeared to rule out an election this year.

Carpenter considered the motion lost.

"Without 40 votes, there is no use pursuing the matter any further," he announced.

Carpenter's motion also sought to place the Legislature on record in support of special election consideration of another proposed constitutional amendment to validate revenue bonds issued for higher education dormitory construction.

Effect Eyed

The effect of the Legislature's refusal to lay the mill levy limit proposal before the voters this year is to assure an increase in the sales tax rate to 3% and double the state income tax rate, Carpenter said.

The Scottsbluff lawmaker guessed that the 10% personal income tax levy will jump to 20% or 25%.

If county mill levy limits remain unchanged, the Legislature this year will have to assume mental patient care costs now assumed by the counties, and a heavier share of medicaid costs, he said.

Nearly half of the counties have reached their constitutional tax limit, he noted.

The mental care patient obligation could amount to nearly $30 million a biennium.

New Limit

Carpenter's proposed amendment, contained in LB816, would authorize the Legislature to establish a new statutory limit for counties.

There are no constitutional limits on other governmental subdivisions, he pointed out.

Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa objected to removing the limit, suggesting that county government will have to move to "an austerity program" to stay within it.

Sen. Willard Waldo of DeWitt asked why the matter could not wait to be resolved by the people at the 1970 general election, when constitutional amendments would normally be considered.

Costs of Election

Costs of a special election could reach about $300,000, Sen. Elmer Wallwey of Emerson informed his colleagues.

If there were a special election this year, Sen. Henry Pedersen Jr., of Omaha said, he would also like the electorate to consider at that time an amendment to give the Legislature authority to make grants for students enrolled in non-public schools.

Such a proposal, LB1083, was introduced by Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha.

Voting against Carpenter's motion to propose a special election this summer were Sens. Clifton Batchelder, Ellen Craft, T. C. Kennedy, Rudolf, Kokes, Nore, Wallwey, Jerome Warner, Waldo, Theodore Wenzlaff and William Wylie.

This Week's Health Tip

Here's a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

Spring is a wonderful time to go hiking, and hiking is excellent exercise that involves nearly all of the body. Anyone able to walk can exercise, because the strenuousness of the activity depends on the pace and distance traveled.

Like any form of exercise, walking requires a period of gradual conditioning before any all-out effort. Those who are out of training should start with short hikes.

The hiker should pay particular attention to his feet and shoes. The shoe should be properly fitted, be well broken in and have no rough spots inside. Two pair of socks help to cushion the foot.

When walking, keep your feet pointed straight ahead. When your feet are pointed inward or outward, the weight is unequally distributed and is borne by the part of the foot least capable of taking the stress.

Burbach 'Not Interested'

By United Press International

State Sen. Jules W. Burbach, Crofton, said Wednesday he isn't interested in running for governor in 1970.

Burbach, when asked about speculation he might seek the Democratic nomination for the post said: "I'm not interested in running for governor and that's all there is to it."

Burbach was defeated in 1966 by former Lt. Gov. Philip Sorensen in the primary race for the party's gubernatorial nod.

His name has entered early speculation on who might run for the nomination in 1970.

Others include Democratic National Committeeman J. J. Exon of Lincoln, former Gov. Frank Morrison and Osceola attorney William Norton.

A drive already is underway among the party's county chairmen to gain support for Exon.

8% Spending Hike Limit Resolution Sent To Committee

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A resolution which asks the Legislature to reaffirm its support for the 8% spending increase limit now contained in the state aid program for public schools was sent to the Education Committee Wednesday for public hearing.

Education Chairman Lester Harsh of McCook sponsored the resolution, LB31.

The proposal was sent to committee upon the request of Sen. Wayne Ziebarth of Wilcox.

Harsh said he "strongly favor(s)" the 8% limit, but believes the Department of Education should be encouraged to allow more exceptions to the rule.

School districts which increase their per-pupil expenditures by more than 8% a year forfeit their right to fully participate in available state financial support.

Harsh's resolution would urge the department and the State Board of Education to be more lenient when school districts which exceed the limit apply for relief, now available under the law.

The board would be asked to "give weight to factors contributing to the rapidly rising costs of education, such as, but not limited to, changing enrollments, addition of new programs and adjustment of teacher-pupil ratios to achieve more effective teaching."

Pending before the committee is LB677, which would abolish the 8% spending limitation.

Liquor Discount Sales Ban Passed By State Legislature

By Associated Press

Nebraska's Legislature Wednesday banned discount selling of liquor to retailers who buy in large quantities.

With a number of liquor store operators watching from the galleries, the Unicameral approved 39-8 Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB151, prohibiting liquor manufacturers, distributors or wholesalers from granting discounts, rebates, free goods, allowances or any other inducements to retailers. The bill also prohibits retailers from accepting such discounts.

Because the measure carried the emergency clause, it becomes law the moment it is signed by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann.

In effect, the bill assures that retailers will be on even footing as to prices at which they purchase their product.

Carpenter and other supporters of LB151 advocated it as a means of keeping small liquor retailers from being driven out of business by larger competitors whose quantity purchases earn them discounts.

Confirms Policy

Carpenter noted during the earlier floor debate that the bill merely confirms what is already State Liquor Control Commission policy.

How Senators voted on LB151:

For (39): Bloom, Buod, Burbach, Carpenter, Carstens, Clark Craft, Danner, Duis, Elrod, Harsh, Hasebroock, Johnson, Kennedy, Klaver, Knight, Kokes, Kremer, Luedtke, Mahoney, Marvel, Moulton, Simpson, Skarda, Stull, Swanson, Waldron, Warner, Wiltse, Wylie, Ziebarth.

Against (8): Adamson, Batchelder, Pedersen, Syas, Waldo, Wallwey, Wenzlaff, Whitney.

Absent (2): Holmquist, Keyes.

LB151 was one of 10 bills passed on final reading Wednesday.

The batch included Sen. Carpenter's LB21, which requires county assessors and deputies to pass examinations given by the tax commissioner as a qualification for office beginning next year.

The county assessor certificates which would be issued for passing the exams could be revoked if the holder fails or refuses faithfully to perform his duties in accordance with rules, regulations and instructions promulgated and issued by the tax commissioner, or in accordance with laws of the state.

The list of bills passed, with approving vote (E-emergency clause):

LB21 (Carpenter) — Requiring county assessors and deputies to pass examinations given by tax commissioner as a qualification for office beginning in 1970, and providing bonus salary for assessors or deputies who meet certain standards. (E) 40-6.

LB151 (Carpenter) — Prohibiting liquor manufacturers, distributors or wholesalers from granting discounts, rebates, free goods, allowances or other inducements to retailers. (E) 39-8.

LB297 (Adamson, Stull) — Requiring nonresidents to register motor vehicles in Nebraska after living in the state for 30 days. 46-0.

LB298 (Adamson, Stull)—Clarifying that motor vehicles used or owned by students shall be listed and taxed at student's place of residence if different from the place at which he is attending school. 46-0.

LB304 (Hasebroock, Adamson) — Permitting officers or employes of banks to make home loans from the bank up to $25,000. (E) 44-0.

LB338 (Orme, Wylie) — Authorizing the Department of Health to issue temporary medical-surgical licenses and temporary educational permits or visiting faculty permits for teaching in colleges of medicine. 47-0.

LB430 (Clark, Carpenter) — Exempting from documentary stamp tax those deeds to a family corporation where all shares are owned by family members and no money has been exchanged. (E) 45-0.

LB620 (Wiltse, Waldo) — Providing additional designation for classification of trucks and truck-tractors. 46-0.

LB681 (Carpenter) — Permitting counties to cross-appeal to district court on a contention the value of owner's propety is too low. (E). 47-0.

LB692 (Moulton) — Revising procedures for transfer of unused federal highway allocations from one govenmental subdivision to another in Nebraska. 47-0.

Education Measure Advanced

By Associated Press

A bill labeled by foes as mandatory school re organization legislation received 20-14 first round approval in the Legislature Wednesday.

A motion to kill Sen. Lester Harsh's LB798 died on a 12-24 count.

The bill would allow a Class VI school district with three or less Class I districts in its boundaries to expand its educational offering to kindergarten through 12th grade with the approval of 75% of the district's electorate.

Class VI districts offer high school education only.

Warm Debate

Warm debate took place Tuesday on the bill before the noontime adjournment but cooled somewhat when Harsh reported the measure presently would affect only three Class VI districts in the state.

Harsh said the 75% voter approval clause offers "real protection" to rural voters who Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine previously said would be overrun by the urban electorate.

"How far are we going to let minorities go?" Harsh asked. "Seventy-five per cent is a pretty good majority. How many of you (senators) got a 75% majority vote?"

In support of Adamson's kill motion, Sen. Willard Waldo of DeWitt said the state should provide 80% of school costs before legislation forces a school district to "do anything."

Affected Districts

The three Class VI districts which would be affected are Perkins County High School in Grant, Thomas County High School in Thedford and Lewellen Rural High School in Lewellen.

On another education issue, the Legislature supplied first round approval on a 30-3 vote to a bill requiring all American history courses to include the contributions made by all ethnic groups.

Sen. Edward Danner's LB178 originally proposed to accentuate the contributions by Negroes specifically.

In the tax field, Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB391 allowing the state tax commissioner to raise or lower property valuations to achieve inter-county equalization drew 33-0 first round approval.

Claims Procedures

Also receiving first round approval Wednesday were two bills which would set up claims procedures against the state and political subdivisions in Nebraska.

LB154 and LB155, both products of an interim study committee headed by Lincoln Sen. Roland Luedtke, were advanced without opposition.

Under LB154, a State Claims Board would be created to rule on tort claims against the state. Under LB155, the governing body of counties, cities or school boards would function in the same manner.

Luedtke, noting that the bills represent a move away from traditional governmental immunity, said the measures "would completely blast the idea that the king can do no wrong."

Public Works Committee Splits Over Industrial Electric Service Bill

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Public Works Committee Wednesday divided sharply over proposed legislation which would permit the wishes of prospective industrial customers to be considered in resolving retail electric service area disputes.

The bill, LB772, remained stuck in committee after separate motions to kill the proposal or send it to the floor failed on 4-3 votes. Five votes are required to take action.

Municipal electric utilities and rural public power districts vigorously objected to the bill at a public hearing.

The measure was endorsed by all five members of the Nebraska Power Review Board, and spokesmen for Consumers Public Power District and a group of Columbus industries.

Also held for later consideration was LB353, which would resubmit to the electorate a proposed constitutional amendment to permit the Legislature to consolidate power districts into a public corporation.

A similar amendment was turned down by the people last November.

Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, chief sponsor of LB353, said the proposal would be "a start (toward) providing somebody in public power with enough authority to settle disputes."

The bill was supported by rural electric districts, and attracted no opposition testimony.

LB772 would permit the Power Board to consider customer wishes in determining which electric supplier should be awarded a disputed retail industrial load.

Such disputes are now resolved by the board without regard to the desires of the prospective customer.

Sen. William Swanson of Lincoln, who introduced the bill at the request of the board, said its enactment would be important to Nebraska's industrial development program.

Speaking for the board, Del Dirrim said the proposal would not generally disrupt retail service area boundaries, but permit the board to consider rare exceptions to established areas.

Robert Shively of Columbus, CPPD's industrial development manager, said the bill would "remove a roadblock to our industrial progress."

Industries sometimes express a preference as to supplier based on reliability of service, rates, utility experience and sophistication, the committee was told.

Opponents said the bill would reopen the old battles over retail customers and renew the duplication, competition and public expense which the Legislature attempted to eliminate in creating the Power Board.

In doing so, William Norton of Osceola suggested, it would force the Legislature to transform the board into a regulatory commission with rate-setting authority in order to control the resulting conflicts.

Norton, former chairman of the board, opposed LB772 on behalf of the rural districts.

It would place larger utilities in an advantageous position and eventually "contribute to the economic breakdown" of rural districts by robbing them of large industrial loads, he said.

"It would be a free-for-all" in which districts would "pirate" industrial customers from one another, Grand Island Utilities Commissioner Frank Phelps declared.

Stand On Coliseum Hearing Shifts

By The Associated Press

The Legislature's Education Committee indicated Wednesday that it would not be opposed to making the University of Nebraska Coliseum the site for public hearings on three controversial bills.

The decision apparently nullifies Committee Chairman Lester Harsh's statement earlier in the week that the hearing would not be moved from the State Capitol. Three bills — LB1339, LB1341 and LB1342 — all concern school reorganization.

The committee also agreed to hold hearings on all three bills on the same day, April 9. Previously, two had been scheduled for April 8 with LB1339 set for April 9.

The decisions came after the committee conferred in executive session with S. H. Brauer Jr., the executive secretary of the Nebraska Improvement Association which vigorously opposes mandatory school reroganization.

'..Brauer asked Harsh earlier in the week if the hearings could be moved to accomodate the large "throngs of people" anticipated. Harsh said the hearings would stay in the capitol.

But Wednesday, the committee voted 5-0 to accept the decision of the Legislative Council's Executive Board on where the hearing should be held. One committee member was absent and two did not vote.

Proposed in the three bills:

—LB1339, doing away with the county superintendent's office in any county which is in an education service unit.

—LB1341, reducing the number of educational service units from 19 to 13.

—LB1342, calling for unified kindergarten through 12th grade school districts meeting certain standards by July 1, 1973.

Measure Requiring Schools To Train Retarded Moves

The Legislature's Education Committee Wednesday advanced to the floor a measure which would require school districts to provide or help fund training for retarded youths.

The bill, an amended version of Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB172, was hammered together in executive session and dispatched to the floor on a 7-0 vote.

Either the school district or an educational service unit, under the bill, "shall provide for education and training of all trainable mentally retarded children up to the age of 21 who are residents of such school district or unit."

Committee members noted, however, that the measure would not apply where programs have already been set up, such as in the Lincoln and Omaha areas.

The county, educational service unit and school district would pay proportionate shares of the cost, with additional funding coming from state and federal governments.

A county which has been excluded from an educational service unit and which desires to be included in the training program would have to shoulder the ESU's share of the cost for pupils from that county.

ESU administrators and associations for the mentally retarded had given the bill unanimous support at its public hearing earlier in the months.

Low-Down Office

Tel Aviv (AP) — Israeli authorities have set up the world's lowest post office in occupied Jordanian territory near the Dead Sea. The site is 1,292 feet below sea level.

Pinball Machine Tax Change Gets Committee Boost

An occupation tax would be substituted for the present sales tax on pinball machine revenue under a bill which the Legislature's Revenue Committee agreed Wednesday to sponsor.

The bill was one of six, all related to taxation, whics the committee consented to introduce.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, committee chairman, noted that auditing problems have been encountered in applying the sales tax to nickels and dimes put in pinball machines and similar amusement devices.

The proposed bill would require a $100 annual license of distributors of the machines, and the operator of the establishment in which the machine is located would pay an occupation tax of $10 per year.

The other bills for introduction would:

—Permit the tax commissioner to make bank deposis directly without channeling them through the state treasurer.

—Clarify the procedures to be followed in sales-income tax hearings.

—Aid Nebraska participation in the multi-state tax compact.

—Designate income tax money withheld by employers from wages as "trust funds."

—Designate sales taxes collected by retailers as "trust funds."

Wage Bill For Waitresses Moves

By United Press International

A bill establishing a minimum wage of 50 cents an hour for people such as waitresses who make most of their living from tips was approved by the Unicameral's Labor Committee Wednesday.

The bill, LB1049, sent to the floor of the Legislature, also would require that waitreses be allowed to keep all of the tips they receive, rather than being forced to turn some tips over to their employer.

An amendment to the bill also would place students under the state's $1 an hour minimum wage law.

The bill was presented to the committee by State Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha, who said for many waitresses "tips just don't do the job."

He said the bill also would help waitresses who "wait on a lot of cheap people who never leave tips."

State AFL-CIO President Richard Nisley of Omasa also testified for the bill. He said in checking on the situation he had learned that some restaurant owners make waitresses return some of their tips to the owner and others make them share tips with bus boys.

The committee also sent out LB876, allowing youths aged 14 and 15 to work after 10 p.m. if they have no school the next day and their employer receives a special permit from the State Labor Commission. The bill is aimed at farm workers.

Also approved was LB1095, to put into law the fact that state employes receive 11 paid holidays a year and to standardize state employe work laws.

Over $5 Million AlreadyRefunded To Nebraskans

Refunds totaling more than $5 million already have been paid to Nebraskans subject to the state income tax, the tax commissioner's office reported Wednesday.

And only about one-third of the anticipated total of returns have been processed.

As of Monday, 235,894 returns had been processed and $5,160,924, mostly in food sales tax credit refunds, had been mailed back to these resident taxpayers. In many cases this meant simply that more wages were withheld than were needed to cover the income tax liability after the $7 per person food sales tax credit had been applied.

Not all taxpayers submitting their 1968 returns got refunds, of course. Payments into the general fund from those owing the state have totaled $3,911,735 to date.

The state believes as many as 750,000 individual state income tax returns will be filed. The deadline is April 15.

Peter Kiewit Gets Contract For Interstate

The State Department of Roads Wednesday awarded a $7,566,319 contract for Omaha interstate construction to the Peter Kiewit Sons Construction Co. of Omaha.

Roads Department officials said the Kiewit bid was the lowest of several bids received earlier in the month.

The specific project includes the superstructure construction on the I-480 bridge in downtown Omaha, between 14th and 20th Sts.

A mid-summer 1971 completion date is scheduled, but a Kiewit spokesman indicated that favorable delivery schedules might permit completion some time in 1970.

The structural design to be utilized features a new type of steel plate with a trapezoidal steel box girder. The design has only been used twice before in the nation — on the 17th and 10th St. ramps in Omaha.

A Roads Department spokesman said the department will let bids for substructure work on the three I-480 Omaha bridges on April 4.

Emigration Declines

Tokyo (AP) — About 60,000 Japanese have moved to Latin America since 1952 but the rate is decreasing, the Emigration Bureau reported. It said 639 persons went to live in Latin America last fiscal year. In the peak year of 1959, thirteen times that many emigrated.

Survey: Tempo Of Protest Against 'Establishment' Accelerating

By LOUIS HARRIS

The heart of the revolt against traditional values and the so-called "Establishment" in America can be found these days among the young and the blacks. After the calming period following the election of Richard Nixon to the White House, the tempo of protest appears to be accelerating again.

One of the rallying cries of the rebels is the popular phrase, "participatory democracy." By this, its exponents mean that those who want to change society should be able to take their case directly to the people. If precluded from that, some advocate "symbolic" action in the streets and on the campuses, in a series of confrontations with the existing seats of power.

Yet a recent Harris Survey indicates clearly that the two groups who participate least of all in the political process are the two same centers of revolt: the young and the blacks. The specific poll deals with the extent to which individuals take part in campaigns for Congress.

In the case of young people, only six per cent have actively worked for a congressional candidate, compared with 12% of the 50-and-over age group. Similarly, among the under-35 group, only 18% have attended a political rally or heard a candidate speak, while double that number, 36%, of the older group has come out to such events.

Fewer Letters

Young people tend to write fewer letters and sign fewer petitions, talk less in person with candidates, contribute less financially, and follow campaigns in the press and on television less closely than older people.

The same is the case for the Negro sector. Blacks tend to attend fewer rallies, turn out in relatively fewer numbers

LOUIS HARRIS

Two Groups

to work in campaigns, sign fewer petitions and write less letters, have less personal contact with their congressmen, and follow them less in the public media than whites.

Both young people and blacks also come out to vote on election day in smaller proportions than their counterparts in the population. The Harris Survey now estimates that in the last presidential election barely 50% of the under-30 group voted, compared with close to 70% of the over-50 age group. Comparably, under 50% of the blacks voted, compared with close to 65% of the whites.

More Difficult

Of course, despite the gains made in recent years in easing restrictions on registration, elimination of the poll tax and other encumbrances, on the whole it is still probably more difficult for black voters to have as equal a chance to cast their ballots in this country. Young people, moreover, are among the most mobile in our society and are often handicapped by local voting laws.

This phenomenon of young people and blacks participating less in the political process is not something new. For the past 20 years, surveys of public opinion have recorded it.

But a real question is whether the lack of participation stems from alienation from the political process itself or simply from more traditional apathy. The same Harris Survey shed some significant light on the answers to these questions.

Big Difference

A series of propositions were put to people which dealt with disenchantment with the system itself. These reveal vastly different attitudes among young people and blacks. Young people tend to be less alienated than their elders, while blacks tend to be more alienated than whites with the political process.

Specifically, young people believe less than other age groups that "people like myself don't have any say about what government does," and that "public officials don't care what people like me think."

By contrast, Negroes tend to answer these questions in the affirmative more than any other group in the population. Majorities of them feel left out of the political process and disenfranchised by the system.

Therefore, it is possible to trace some of the lack of participation in the political process among blacks to their disenchantment with the way the system works for them. Basically, they feel left out and discriminated against. Clearly, black participation in the political process can be expected to increase as alienation declines.

We broke down and bought a color TV. It was a hard buy. The black-and-white was working OK, and the nudge on a color television is not like buying a bag of donuts.

There are more TV sets in the U.S. than bathtubs. Not all in color, though the number of color sets is rising. (Some people are shocked that TV outranks the bath, but you must admit it's more entertaining.)

The children were mad with excitement. "Lassie!" they said. "In color!"

☆ ☆ ☆

It turned out the early Lassie was not in color. But Rocky and His Friends came on like the glowing sunset.

The TV ran all the time. We saw shows we'd never looked at before. (Some real dogs, too. And I don't mean Lassie.)

It set up a terrible thing about color. The household wren is bugs on color. Once we had a whole room painted and, when it dried, had it painted all over again. It was just a shade off — but she said she just couldn't live with it.

☆ ☆ ☆

There are three knobs to mix color on the TV. I read the instructions. Turned the knobs.

"Too red," she said critically. "The skin tone is too red."

"It looks fine to me," I said.

"Try a little more blue," she said. I gave it a shot of blue.

"That's better," she said. "It's cooler."

I said: "The guy looks like he has a chill. I liked him better when he was sunburned."

☆ ☆ ☆

The reason we held off on a color TV is the picture looks so wishy-washy in daytime. All sets seem to be sold in daytime. In store windows. In lighted showrooms. The wonder is that anybody buys.

When night came on, we were amazed.

"Hey," I said. "That color is not bad!"

"Try a little red," she said.

I said: "Make up your mind. You just wanted blue."

"It's got a mauve shade," she said. "It should be just a little more desert pink."

I said: "Heavenly days. This isn't like buying clothes. And I'm not Thomas Edison. You can't get exact shades on these things."

"I was talking to the neighbors," she said. "They can get it."

"Are there any martinis made?" I said.

☆ ☆ ☆

With black-and-white TV we just turned the thing on. Before the picture came on — about a minute — the sound came on with a frightful roar. (Children turn the set on then cunningly push the volume onto full ahead. When it is turned on again, the sound blows your head off.)

We leaped up and turned the sound down. Then the picture came on. Clear and cool. And what shading can you do with black-and-white?

☆ ☆ ☆

Immediately we found that each program needed color adjustment. "That doesn't look right," she said. "Try getting some of the yellow out."

I said: "I just sat down. Do you mind if I get one bite of the olive? Never mind whether I get the gin."

She said: "You know how I am about color."

"Close your eyes," I said.

"I'd do it myself," she said, "but you know I'm not mechanical."

I turned the knob. "Is that better?" "Now it's too blue," she said.

I said: "Let me get a refill and I'll take it apart."

Hardin To Be Here For Policy Meeting

Washington (UPI) — Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin wil be in Lincoln April 12 for a regional policy conference with agricultural and rural area leaders, it was announced Wednesday.

A spokesman for Hardin said the conference will provide farmers and representatives of organizations concerned with rural problems an opportunity to present what was called "positive ideas for future plans in agriculture."

The spokesman said Hardin will be at the conference primarily to "listen and look, rather than to talk."

The conference will cover such policy issues as rural America, rural-urban balance, food nutrition and hunger, farm prices and advancement of farm income, farm programs, natural resource conservation, the structure of agriculture and related ideas that local people want to discuss with the secretary.

NU Employes Organization Seeks Recognition As Union

Representatives of University of Nebraska operation and maintenance employes and food service workers, organizing as a local union, plan to meet with NU officials next week to seek recognition and present cards for dues deduction.

Some 90 NU employes have joined the university employes local of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, AFL-CIO, according to international union representative John Oliva of Lincoln.

Oliva and Lambert Eitel, of St. Paul, Minn., area director for AFSCME, plan to represent the NU employes, it was reported.

A bill now pending in the Legislature, LB15, would grant public employes the right to organize, choose their representation and negotiate with their employers who, in turn, would be required to enter into agreements with employe organizations.

Public employes are not prohibited from organizing now, but their employers do not have specific authority to negotiate.

Three Nebraskans To Attend Confab

Three Nebraskans will attend the annual convention of the Central District Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation in St. Paul, Minn. on March 28-30.

They are Dr. Joe F. Sills of the University of Nebraska, Roy Gray, state department consultant in health, physical recreation and recreation, and Carol French, physical education teacher at East High School, Lincoln.

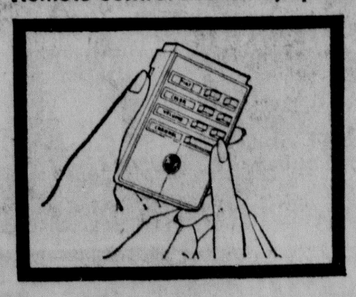
Consolette Color at a low, low price

RCA has built an enviable reputation for quality in Color TV. And RCA is famous for value too. A good example is this fine wood Color consolette. The colors are as bright and beautiful as all outdoors, thanks to RCA's 25,000-volt New Vista chassis. A new Solid State color demodulator delivers a truer reproduction of what the TV camera "sees," while automatic chroma control stabilizes the color intensity setting you select for each channel. These are a few of the many reasons why RCA is America's first choice in Color.

Remote control available, optional, extra



Tune Color TV from your easy chair! RCA transistorized "Wireless Wizard" remote control tunes "tint" and "color," adjusts volume up or down, turns picture and sound off and back on remotely.

World War I Era Radical Max Eastman, 86, Dies

New York — Max Eastman, 86, poet, editor, authority on Bolshevism and one of the leading radicals and intellectuals during the years before and after World War I, died Tuesday at St. Joseph's Hospital in Bridgetown, Barbardos. He lived in Gay Head, Martha's Vineyard.

Eastman, who maintained a winter home in Barbados, suffered a stroke March 19. His wife, the former Yvette Szekely, was with him at his death.

Eastman was for years at the center of political and literary controversy, first as an early and ardent radical and later as a disillusioned leftist turned conservative.

Eastman will probably be best remembered by those who date back to World War I as editor of the left-wing "Masses," as well as for his later exposure of the Bolshevik tyranny.

His older sister, Crystal, collaborated with him in founding the "Liberator," after the "Masses" was closed under the sedition act for opposing World War I. Crystal was also the leading spirit of the American Union Against Militarism. She and her brother and his friends on the "Masses" worked hard to combat the mounting drive toward U.S. participation in the war.

Banned From Mail

So violently did the magazine campaign against the draft and American participation in the European conflict that it was banned from the mails. Its editors were indicted, charged with "conspiring to promote insubordination and mutiny in the military and naval forces of the United States and obstruct recruiting and enlistment to the injury of the service."

Two trials for violating the sedition act of 1917 followed in 1918 for Eastman and his colleagues. In both cases the juries disagreed, and the indictments were dropped.

ISCO . . . production line; each girl has different job.

Vital Part Of Scientific Research Begins At ISCO Plant In Lincoln

A vital part of the world's scientific research begins in Lincoln at Instrumentation Specialties Co., Inc. (ISCO), manufacturers of electronic instruments for biochemical research and other specialized equipment.

The company has grown from a two-man operation in a garage to a corporation with an international market in 12 years.

ISCO is displaying its new home at 48th and Superior at an open house from 8-4 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. Friday. The new plant has 35,000 square feet of work space for about 125 employes.

Largest Line

The largest line of equipment at ISCO is used for separating and studying nucleic acids, the building blocks of proteins that scientists are studying to determine the secret of life, President Robert Allington said.

By separating biochemical mixtures, with delicate equipment researchers can determine the composition of genetic materials and of viruses, he said.

The new plant is equipped with a lab; a research and development department, where new instruments are conceived; a machine shop; an engineering model department; a faulty insurance area, where machines are checked for a second time and various other manufacturing and equipment rooms.

Shiping Room

Since one-third of the items are exported to foreign countries, ISCO has its own shipping room.

The firm was begun by Robert Allington in 1957 when he began repairing equipment.

He received two degrees in electrical engineering from the University of Nebraska and the firm expanded and moved to 5624 Seward. It expanded there several times before moving to the new location.

There is plenty of room for expansion on the new 20-acre site, Allington said.

The firm employs electrical engineers, a chemist and a biologist. Many employes are graduates of Milford Vocational-Technical School.

There is much on-the-job training at the plant because the instruments must be perfect, Allington said.

Most of the equipment is sold to university departments engaged in biochemical research, government research installations, hospitals that are conducting research and pharmaceutical and chemical companies.

City Tackles Pike's Peak Water Needs

Stamford, Conn. (UPI) — Dorr-Oliver, Inc., has obtained a contract from the City of Colorado Springs to install an unusual sewage ultrafiltration atop Pike's Peak.

It will permit recycling and limited reuse of the Pike's Peak water supply to reduce the cost of trucking water up to the summit of the 14,110-foot mountain, which is a prime tourist attraction.

Jordan Says Israeli Raid Kills 18

By The Associated Press

Jordan reported Israeli warplanes killed 18 civilians, wounded 25 and wrought heavy damage Wednesday near Salt, a trade center and quarry town 13 miles west of Amman, the capital.

An Israeli army spokesman in Tel Aviv said an Arab guerrilla base near Salt was the target of a few planes, all of which returned unscathed.

A Jordanian military spokesman said the raiders destroyed six civilian trucks, a taxi and a government vehicle, hit the main road in the area and damaged six houses.

King Hussein, who is to talk over Middle East affairs with American authorities in Washington April 8-9, was reported to have rushed in to supervise relief work.

"This is considered a civilian area where there are a number of coffee houses used by travelers going to and coming from the west bank," the spokesman told newsmen.

In New York, the United Nations Security Council was summoned at Jordan's request to meet in urgent session Thursday morning to hear Jordan's complaint on the raid.

Israel has charged that the barren, stony area around Salt is packed with saboteurs.

As usual the Israelis would not say what planes were used in Wednesday's attack. Israel's main strike jets are French-made Mirages and Mysteres and U.S.-supplied Skyhawks.

Move Coming Later

The Lancaster County Election Commissioner's office will not move into the new County-City Building until after the May 6 general election, Election Commissioner Dean Petersen said Wednesday.

Does a person who has filed bankruptcy lose the privilege to vote? —Mrs. L.J.D. Lincoln

ACTION LINE: No, says a local attorney.

Gasoline prices in Lincoln are three cents a gallon higher than in Marysville, Kan., only 75 miles away. How are gas prices set? —E.E.P., Lincoln

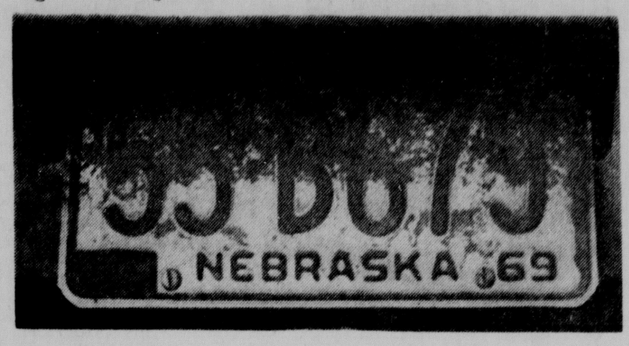
ACTION LINE: The Nebraska gasoline price could be two and one-half cents higher than the Kansas price because Nebraska has a seven and one-half cent state tax per gallon of gas while Kansas has only a five cent state tax per gallon. Add to these the uniform, nationwide four cent per gallon tax and you see one of the reasons why a certain price is established for gasoline. In Nebraska, eleven and one-half cents of each gallon price goes for taxes, leaving a base price of about 26 cents for the dealer who actually sets his own base price.

What's the reason behind having two fine stage plays in Lincoln on the same night—"Hello, Dolly" and "You Know I Can't Hear You When The Water's Running." —Theater Lover

ACTION LINE: The Lincoln Broadway League contracted over a year ago for their stage production March 20—last Thursday night. There was no local sponsor for Hello, Dolly, presented by an international road show company. The road show agents contacted Pershing Auditorium manager Ike Hoig in the last week of February, asking to rent the auditorium. The road show was between engagements and it was cheaper to rent a theatre and perform than allow the production to remain idle. Hoig told the agents that another stage play was in town that same night, but this apparently did not matter. It is the auditorium manager's duty to rent the auditorium, so don't blame him. And remember, the Broadway League announced their schedule many months ago, so don't blame that group either. It was a good theater night for Lincoln.

With recent muddy roads, some automobile license plates are so dirty that one cannot read the numbers. Isn't there a law to keep plates clean in case I need to record the number of a hit-and-run driver? —Hickman Resident

ACTION LINE: Certainly there is a law — State Statute 60-324: "All letters, numbers, printing, writing and other identification marks upon such plates and certificate shall be kept clear and distinct and free from grease, dust or other blurring matter, so that they shall be plainly visible at all times during daylight and under artificial light in the nighttime."



I'm curious to know why grocery stores are allowed to sell cooking wines that have alcohol by volume at 12%. Anybody can purchase the wine, regardless of age. —K.M.F., Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Cooking wines are not considered "alcoholic beverages" by State Statute 53-103: "Alcoholic liquor shall . . . not apply to . . . flavoring extracts, syrups, or medicinal, mechanical, scientific, culinary, or toilet preparations, or food products unfit for beverage purposes . . ."

I am confused on the Nebraska point system for driver's license revocation. —W. E. HENSON, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: The accumulation of 12 points in any two-year period will cause automatic revocation of the driver's license for one year. All such points shall be assessed against the driving record of the operator as of the date of the violation for which conviction was had and the points on the violation are dropped two years from the date of the violation. Within 24 hours after it comes to the attention of the director of motor vehicles that an individual has accumulated 12 points, a registered letter is mailed to the last known address, which contains the list of convictions, the name of the court and the number of points charged for each conviction. The person must give up his driver's license and, if not, that person can be fined up to $500 or jailed for 30 days.

Nebraska point system law provisions: 12 points for felony conviction in which a motor vehicle was used; 12 points for third offense drunken driving, regardless of whether trial court found it to be third offense; 12 points for failure to stop and render aid; 6 points for driving under the influence of liquor or drug; 6 points for willful reckless driving; 4 points for careless driving; 3 points for negligent driving; 5 points for reckless driving; 4 points for leaving the scene of accident, but submitting a report within 12 hours (failure to report within 12 hours results in 8 points), speeding not more than 5 m.p.h. over limit is 1 point, more than 5 and no more than 10 m.p.h. over limit is 2 points and more than 10 m.p.h. over limit is 3 points; 2 points given for all other traffic violations, except parking, muffler and overloading trucks.

Symington:

Congress Doubting Pentagon

Washington (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington, once considered so much a part of the military establishment he was labeled the "senator from the Air Force," says Congress is no longer prone to take the word of the Pentagon.

"In the past," Symington said in an interview, "we have been more prone to take the words of a combination of the civilian and military in the Pentagon. I think this year there may be even too far a swing the other way for some items."

The Missouri Democrat may be a weathervane showing how the political winds are blowing across Capitol Hill in this year of crucial defense decisions. With the hawk and dove fluttering over Vietnam and the antiballistic missile system, Symington has reserved seats in both nests.

Unique

The onetime Air Force secretary is the only senator who is a member of both the Armed Services and the Foreign Relations committees. He thus carries credentials from the two Senate committees that often represent contrary views on war and peace.

"I have a peculiar position because most of the members of the Armed Services Committee, with the exceptions that prove the rule, are what would normally be considered hawks.

"And most of the members of the Foreign Relations Committee—or many of them might be better — are what normally are considered doves . . .

'Good Thing'

"But I believe being the only member of either party on both these committees. I think it's been a good thing for me because I'm certain in my own mind I would feel more dovish if I were only on Foreign Relations and more hawkish if I were only on Armed Services."

There was a time when Symington was considered, possibly unfairly, to be a super-hawk clutching megaton bombs.

But the tall, gray, well-tailored senator who was Harry S. Truman's favorite candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, has become critical of the war and of the ABM deployment proposals, skeptical of the merit and costs of the nation's far-flung military bases and commitments, and unhappy over the free use of secrecy labels.

This year Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, named Symington chairman of a subcommittee to review "the international military commitments of the United States and their relationship to foreign policy."

"What we want to find out," Symington said, "is how much the Department of Defense, through direct or indirect negotiations, has been, if at all, making foreign policy decision and what it's done ancillary to decisions that might create foreign policy."

Closed-Door Phase

The subcommittee's inquiry is now in its closed-door phase. It will cover, according to its prospectus, "why we have 432 bases abroad, why we have commitments to defend 42 other countries, what is the nature of the original agreements" and whether they can be modified or cancelled.

"The way I see it," said Symington, "when you start shooting it's a problem for the military except for broad questions of policy . . . On the other hand, when there isn't any shooting, then I think the military, under our constitutional position, is a component part of our foreign policy decision and the State Department, as the senior department, should make the decision.

"At times it would appear that has not been true in recent years."

Arson Suspected In Omaha Blaze

Omaha (AP) — Chief Fire Investigator Joe L. Pluta said Wednesday arson was suspected in an early morning fire which destroyed a building at the Rockbrook Shopping Center.

Pluta said it appeared the fire may have been started to cover up an attempt to crack a safe in the Cinderella Market. He said it was found that the dial had been knocked off the safe, drawers in a desk had been pulled open and a cash register face plate had been pried off.

Initial indications were the safe was not opened, but store officials hadn't succeeded in opening the box to determine if $1,500 was still there.

The fire destroyed eight businesses and offices in one building. Firemen said a fire wall helped hold back the flames from five other businesses in the west part of the structure. The building was one of five in the center.

Pluta said the alarm was turned in at 3:28 a.m. after Gale Olmstead, owner of the Captain's Corner, a clothing store in another building, noticed smoke. The fire was declared under control at 7:18 a.m.

The building was purchased last spring by Byron Reed Co., Inc., which had a branch office destroyed. Byron Reed President Charles E. Peterson Jr. said the building was insured but declined to estimate the loss.

City records show that a $75,000 building permit was issued for the building in 1959. Additions were made in 1961 and 1965 with building permits totaling $60,000 records show.

Bellevue Fire 'Case Of Arson'

Bellevue (AP) — Fire Chief James Wilson Wednesday said a fire which extensively damaged a nearly new automobile owned by Jack Allen, city editor of the Bellevue Press, was a case of arson.

He said he is asking the state fire marshal to investigate.

Wilson said the device used was apparently a fire bomb.

Blaze Causes Considerable Damage To Attic Of Home

A fire in a house at 1800 C Wednesday caused considerable damage to the attic and completely destroyed camping equipment and clothes that were stored there.

The house is being rented by Ronald G. West, 39, and is occupied by West, his wife and their six children.

Fire officials said the fire could have been started by children playing with matches in the upstairs section, but a spokesman said the investigation was continuing.

Officials said Fireman Gene Smith suffered minor burns while fighting the blaze.

Prosecution Argues Sirhan 'Tailored' Account Of June 5

By ARTHUR EVERETT

Los Angeles (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan tried to tailor his account of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's assassination with an eye toward self preservation, the prosecution suggested Wednesday. A defense witness disagreed.

Deputy Dist. Atty. David N. Fitts, saying that Sirhan at first denied testimony by prosecution witnesses that indicated the slaying was premeditated, asked whether this did not point to "some position on his part that indicates self preservation?"

The defense's star psychiatric witness, Dr. Bernard Diamond, replied, "No."

Sirhan 'Computerized Killer'

Diamond is a professor of law, psychiatry and criminology at the University of California. He has described Sirhan as a computerized killer who subconsciously programmed himself for the assassination because he considered Kennedy pro-Israel.

Fitts led up to his questioning by citing Sirhan's presence at the Ambassador Hotel assassination scene two days before Kennedy's June 5, 1968, shooting.

Also, Fitts said, Sirhan practiced rapid firing at a target range a few hours before he put three bullets into Kennedy, who was campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In each case, Fitts said, Sirhan tried to get around what might be construed as premeditation by initially denying the testimony of state witnesses.

Seizes Individual Items

"Sirhan has an enormous schizophrenic preoccupation with details," Diamond said. "Sirhan seizes on individual items in his behavior, not of others, and makes a great to do about his being right and others wrong. I can't accept this as part of his legal strategy."

Sirhan is on trial for his life and the chief element of the first degree murder charge against him is that he premediated Kennedy's death.

The defendant appeared deeply disturbed by suggestions that he had lied. His lips on occasions formed obscenities in Fitt's direction.

Commuters May Walk If City Traffic Worsens

Washington (AP) — Commuters "are going to walk to work instead of ride" if traffic congestion gets much worse in the nation's cities, says Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe.

"If you get down to a point where automobiles have to travel five miles an hour, well, you know how long people are going to use them," the former Massachusetts governor said in an interview with The Associated Press.

"They are going to walk to work instead of ride. Of course," added Volpe, a physical fitness advocate, "it wouldn't hurt them if they did. . ."

The secretary said it may be necessary to restrict use of automobiles in cities unless a mass transit breakthrough is achieved soon.

Court Implies Ray Plea Final

Nashville, Tenn. (UPI) — In a ruling which a high legal source said could "fit the James Earl Ray case like a glove," the Tennessee Supreme Court held Wednesday that a convicted criminal cannot invalidate a prison sentence by claiming he pleaded guilty on faulty advice of his lawyer.

Ray was sentenced to 99 years in the Tennessee State Prison this month after pleading guilty in Memphis to the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Since then he has been described as wanting a new trial on grounds his lawyer, Percy Foreman of Houston, "pressured" him into pleading guilty.

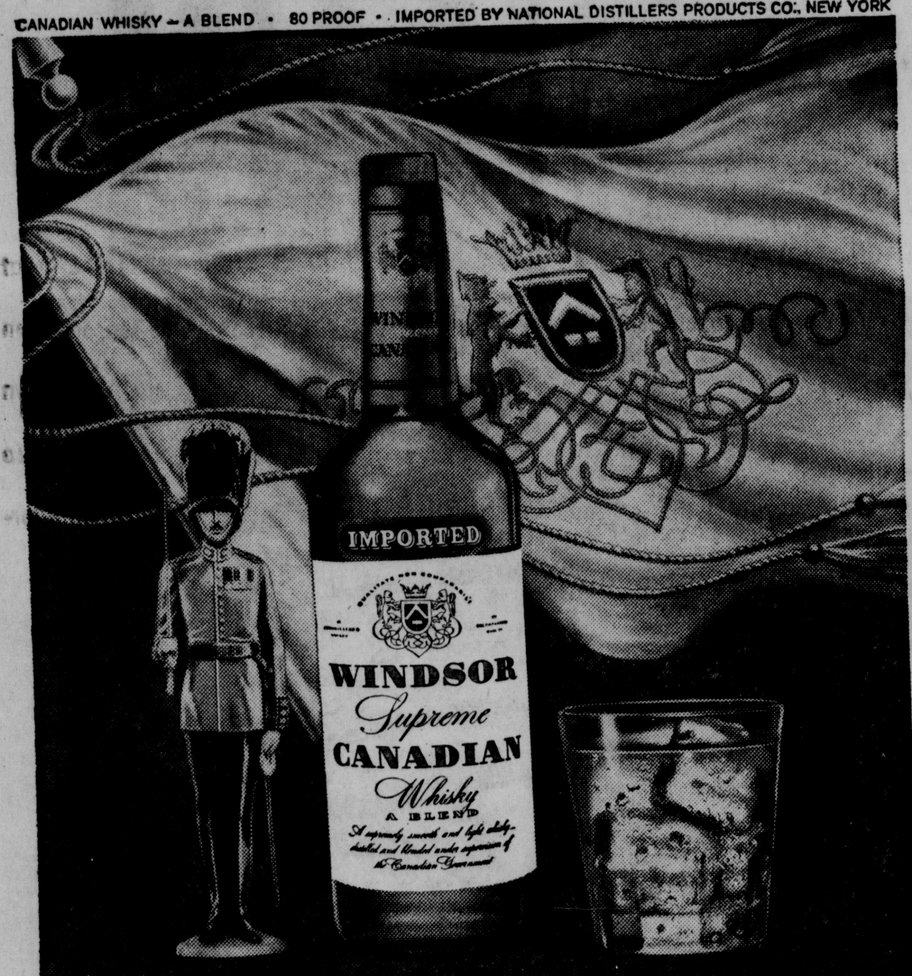
CANADIAN WHISKY — A BLEND • 80 PROOF • IMPORTED BY NATIONAL DISTILLERS PRODUCTS CO., NEW YORK



Elegant tradition:

The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada!

Tonight serve Windsor Canadian: the remarkable, sippin'-smooth Canadian that's already changing thousands of Americans' ideas on the whisky to serve.

Now compare Windsor! Pour two drinks —highballs or over ice—one with your usual, one with Windsor Canadian. Notice the superior smoothness and the flavor of Windsor.

That's because no other custom-distilled whisky shares these three extraordinary features:

1. Only Windsor Canadian is made from choicest northern prairie grains, bursting with fresh flavor.

2. Only Windsor Canadian is born of icy mountain glacial water drawn pure and clear from underground streams.

3. Only Windsor Canadian is aged in the incredibly dry air of Canada's Rockies. Where, nearly a mile high, it gentles to sippin'-smooth perfection.

Yet it costs no more than leading domestic whiskies, because we import Windsor Canadian, then bottle it here. Thus saving on duties and other charges. Compare the price and the smoothness of Windsor. Once you do, you'll never settle for less or pay more. That's tradition for you!

Lincoln General OKs Land Acquisition

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln General Hospital board members Wednesday authorized the purchase of property as it becomes available around the hospital.

The land acquisition, immediately needed for parking, is to be made with funds available in the hospital's capital improvements budget within a plan to be detailed at the next board meeting.

Administrator Robert Brungard was authorized to purchase land with the board ratifying agreements.

In other busuness Wednesday the board was told that the hospital is experimenting with afternoon surgical schedules to better utilize the expensive facilities and to shorten patient time in the hospital in some cases.

Brungard reported that since the first of March, the hospital has provided an operating crew for surgeons who wish to schedule work any week-day afternoon until 6 p.m.

In addition, the normal on-call operating room personnel and anesthesia personnel are available to cover emergencies, he pointed out.

Brungard also reported that the six intern positions at Lincoln General had been filled for next year. He attributed the hospital's full complement of interns to the newly installed 24-hour emergency service that will not involve interns as it does in many hospitals and personal involvement of the medical staff in recruitment.

The board set a special meeting for 8 a.m. April 15, to discuss George Hancock's appraisal of the old hospital building. Hancock was retained to appraise the vacant facility to provide further information on which the board will base decisions about further utilization.

The trustees also agreed to inform the Lancaster County commisioners, who have expressed an interest in using the old building as a nursing home, that the hospital board is about to conclude its deliberations and need a definite proposal soon if one is to be made.

Resolutions expressing appreciation for long service to the hospital by board member Mrs. Gladys Forsyth and nursing education director Mrs. Phyllis Adkisson were approved. Both women have resigned their positions.

Mrs. Scott Named To Head Clinton Neighborhood Plan

Mrs. O. J. Scott of 26 Trenridge Rd. has been named project manager of a neighborhood improvement program in the Clinton School area.

The program will be operated by the Better Lincoln Community with a $13,720 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity through the Lincoln Action Program.

Mrs. Scott, who assumed her duties this week, is the wife of the Rev. O. J. Scott, minister of education at First United Methodist Church.

An office is expected to be located in the Clinton neighborhood.

A graduate of Southern Methodist University, Mrs. Scott previously served as the director of a YWCA neighborhood center in Dallas, Tex.

A neighborhood council will be organized to initiate projects for accomplishing environmental improvement through self-help and community cooperation, according to Better Lincoln Community director Tom Carroll.

Institute Slated For Parents And Religion Teachers

Some 500 persons are expected to attend the Institute for Parents and Teachers of Religion at Pius X High School Friday.

Speakers included Mrs. Dolores Curran, a religious education advisor and writer, who is currently involved in religious education activities in Colorado.

A former teacher, she has served on the Denver Archdiocesan Board of Religious Education, and is a member of the editorial staff or Parent-Educator magazine. She will speak at 10:30 a.m.

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Willke of Cincinnati will speak on sex education at 1:30 and 8 p.m.

5 NU Students Picked To Study At French School

Five University of Nebraska students have been selected to attend the University of Bordeaux in France during the next school year, NU announced Wednesday.

Picked by a special committee from applicants for the program, the students are Barbara Beckner of Norfolk, Susan Hoff of Imperial, Julie Irish of Albion, Lanson Miles of Seward and Nancy Thompson of Lincoln.

They will attend regular classes at the French university and will live with French students or with other families in Bordeaux.

To qualify for the program, a student must have a high grade average and the ability to speak French fluently.

Library Bond Drive Post To Dr. R. Staples

Dr. Robert Staples will head a special committee that will work toward educating the public on the necessity of the two branch libraries specified in the library bond issue on the May ballot.

The naming of Dr. Staples, a University of Nebraska professor and a former member of the Lincoln City Library Board, was announced at a special Library Board meeting Wednesday.

Library Board members adopted a resolution which explicitly indicated to Dr. Staples the full thinking of the board on the two libraries.

The board also offered suggestions and volunteered its help to the committee in achieving a public understanding of the bond issue.

Dr. Staples will select the committee members.

The NU professor has been active during the past in promoting better library facilities for Lincoln.

He is presently a member of the Lincoln City Library Foundation.

Loudest Not Majority

New York (UPI) — Former secretary of state Dean Rusk said that "some of the loudest and most strident voices don't represent the great majority of young people" in the United States.

Candidate Says He Would Speak 'For Any Citizen'

Lincoln City Council Candidate Ted Chessler said Wednesday he will fully represent any citizen, regardless of the citizen's position in the community.

Chessler said many citizens have complained to him about their lack of representation on the City Council.

"Many said they had a feeling of utter despair as candidate after candidate was placed in public office only to perform to the dictates of his own opinions and interests," he said.

The candidate said it is a public official's duty to do all in his power to represent all citizens of the city.

Something New

Want to turn the tables on the cut-ups in the family who enjoy playing pranks on April First! Serve them a dinner with a few surprises and show them you're nobody's fool.

The surprise comes with the first bite of the April Fool Meatloaves

Give the vegetable accompaniments a twist on the conventional too, by serving a hot cabbage salad.

APRIL FOOL MEATLOAVES

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 envelope (1⅛-oz.) ground beef seasoning with onions
- ¼ cup water
- 1⅓ cups country style mashed potato flakes
- 4 slices American cheese

Mix ground beef with contents of seasoning mix envelope and water; shape into 4 thin patties, 7 inches in diameter. Prepare mashed potatoes according to directions on package for 4 servings. To shape meatloaves, place a cheese slice on each meat patty. Spoon a serving of prepared mashed potatoes on cheese. Bring edges of meat together and seal, completely covering cheese and potatoes. Place seam side down on baking pan. Bake in 350° oven 15 minutes. 4 servings.

HOT CABBAGE SALAD

- 4 slices bacon, chopped
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 tablespoons prepared yellow mustard
- 2 cups shredded cabbage
- ½ cup each chopped celery and green pepper

Cook bacon in skillet over medium heat until pieces are crisp; remove from heat. Blend sugar and mustard into drippings. Add vegetables and stir well to mix. Cover; return to medium heat for two minutes or until hot. 4 servings.

Come For Coffee

Someone has estimated that every morning well over a million American housewives resurrect an old European custom: Kaffeklatching. When your turn to host a coffee hour comes around, serve Orange Sunflower Nut Bread. It's a taste treat guaranteed to win accolades from all who sample it.

The recipe for Orange Sunflower Nut Bread was developed by home economists who found that sunflower nuts added a crunchy surprise taste to the dough. Orange juice and orange peel are added for a tangy accent.

Serve the tasty bread with a crock of whipped butter for an old-fashioned touch. Coffee, of course, is the ideal accompanying beverage.

ORANGE SUNFLOWER NUT BREAD

(Makes 1 loaf)

- 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 egg, beaten
- 4 teaspoons grated orange peel
- 3½ teaspoons baking powder
- ¾ cup orange juice
- ¾ cup milk
- ¼ cup butter, melted
- ¾ cup roaster sunflower nuts (shelled)

Sift the dry ingredients together. Combine egg, orange juice, peel, milk, and butter; add to dry ingredients, mixing well. Stir in sunflower nuts. Turn into greased 9½ x 5 x 3-inch (2 quart) loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees about 1 hour or until done. Let cool on rack 15 minutes before removing from pan.

Cheese Sandwich

Bake a cheese sandwich for Sunday night supper! A golden sandwich rich in milk, cheese, and eggs is truly a delicious and nutritious entree.

Canned French fried onion rings add a crunchy texture to the main dish. And, unlike an ordinary sandwich, this version has a special souffle-like air. A creamy custard made with fresh whole milk and eggs is poured over the sandwiches and then baked to golden perfection.

CHEESE SOUFFLE SANDWICHES

- 12 slices day old or firm white bread
- 12 slices process American cheese
- 1 can (3½ oz.) French fried onions
- 4 eggs, beaten slightly
- 2½ cups milk
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 6 slices ¼-inch tomato, optional

Trim crust from bread slices. Arrange 6 slices of bread over bottom of well-buttered 2-quart baking dish (11⅝ x 7½ x 1¾ inches). Top each bread slice with a slice of cheese. Reserve ½ cup of French fried onions. Sprinkle remaining onions evenly over cheese slices. Cover with remaining bread slices making 6 sandwiches. Combine eggs, milk salt, Worcestershire sauce and mustard. Carefully pour lquid over sandwiches. Bake in slow oven, 325 degrees, 50 minutes or until egg mixture sets. Five minutes before end of baking time top each bread slice with a slice of cheese, a tomato slice and a few of the reserved French fried onion pieces. Continue baking just until cheese melts and tomato heats, 3 to 5 minutes. Let stand 5 to 10 minutes before serving. To serve cut into half sandwiches and remove each with a spatula. Two half sandwiches make 1 serving. Makes 6 servings.

A Basting Sauce Adds Flavor To Fish

LEMON BUTTER BASTING

¼ cup melted butter or margarine
½ teaspoon freshly grated lemon peel
¼ cup freshly squeezed lemon juice

Thoroughly combine all ingredients. Makes ½ cup.

Edwardian Breakfasts No Longer Popular

By GLORIA EMERSON
(c) New York Times Service

London — The huge English breakfast so loved by tourists is not being eaten any more by the natives. Men who can remember their fathers munching five courses in unheated dining rooms, while butlers skimmed in and out, now take coffee and toast themselves.

"It's piano pianissimo compared to what it was," Victor Ferederick William Cavendish Bentinck said. Born in 1897, Cavendish Bentinck can remember when people ate "good Edwardian Guzzles" in the morning.

Cavendish Bentinck describes his own breakfast as "modest." At 8:30 every morning, in the dining room of his Chelsea house, he is served a fried egg, a kipper (a split open, smoked herring) fried in butter, two pieces of toast, a slice or so of Canadian black diamond cheese that tastes like cheddar, and several cups of coffee. While he eats, he looks at his letters.

A former postwar ambassador to Poland, who is now on the boards of 11 British and European companies, he has his own theory about why people don't have big breakfasts anymore.

Cavendish Bentinck, a second lieutenant in the Grenadier Guards in 1918, says rationing in World War I changed English eating habits. Breakfast was already threatened, he believes, when it first became fashionable in the late 1880's to have lunch.

There are mornings when breakfast is different for Cavendish Bentinck, who happens to be not only a crack businessman, but a cousin of the Duke of Portland who is in remainder for the title.

The difference is meat, usually a dinner party leftover.

"Nothing better than half a cold roast in the morning," Cavendish Bentinck said.

He also admires "treacle" from the United States. Americans call it maple syrup.

There are still "good Edwardian Guzzles" served on weekends in the great country houses when there are guests.

At Easton Neston — that imposing little palace finished in 1702 by Nicholas Hawksmoor, a protege of Sir Christopher Wren — in Northhamptonshire, breakfasts on Sunday are considered bliss.

Lady Hesketh, the chatelaine, is a black-coffee girl and wouldn't dream of eating any of the kippers, grilled kidneys, bacon, eggs or kedgeree that guests can gorge on. They help themselves from heated dishes on a sideboard in the vast dining room, but the butler brings the toast and scones.

"Breakfasts in this country had their origins in Scotland in the 18th Century where they had ale and beef," she said.

"When the English discovered Scotland, they imported breakfast and tea." she said. "The Edwardians were the greediest people who ever lived — after all, they introduced these two new meals, didn't they?"

At Easton Neston, the family home of the late Lord Hesketh, the honey is homemade. So is the jam and butter. The toast is cold, as it is always in estates where the kitchen is a half-mile away, and the English prefer it that way.

There are no packaged, sliced loaves of bread at Easton Neston.

"Machine-cut bread is suitable for nothing," Lady Hesketh said. "One doesn't have maple syrup here and I adore it. In my opinion, it's an improvement for every meal. The best breakfast I ever had was at the Silver Griddle, in Seligman, Ariz., and I much prefer American bacon — it's more fryable.

Breakfast to Scots means porridge first and foremost.

Sutherland — whose family, of course, came from the Scottish Highlands in Sutherlandshire — still likes to eat his porridge standing up, but he doesn't have a wooden bowl in his London House. In Scotland, he does. It's an old tradition. Silver spoons are, too — just for porridge. This means homemade oatmeal, and not the instant kind, either.

"If you were a rich man, you had one bowl for the porridge and one bowl for the milk. You didn't mix them. I think this business was probably to keep the porridge warm," he said. "The old days" means, of course, several hundred years ago.

"Remember, the houses were unheated," he added. "The altitude and the crisp weather made one hungry."

It's Unbelievable!

If you already are a little on the disgruntled side this morning we suggest you skip the fashion notes for men that Nadean Walker, fashion writer for the Associated Press, sends to us. The story is about the latest fashions for men who "want to slip into something comfortable." Keep the scathing comments down to a roar by remembering this is cowboy country and a long way from London.

London — Skirts for men. That's the latest fashion fantasy on show in London.

And when the boys want to slip into something comfortable, what better than harem trousers or a cozy jumpsuit?

These were the men's wear styles at a double show today. They came from designer Mr. Fish and completely stole the show from feminine fashions designed by Annacat.

Annacat had planned to top him but when it came down to brass tacks, she lost her nerve and pulled the model out of the show.

That left Mr. Fish in control of the runway with such creations as "The Virgin Earl," described as "an embroidered white moire sleeveless skirted coat.

The model was to have been the Earl of Litchfield, a London photographer, but he got held up in traffic and a professional stood in for him. The earl plans to parade in skirts at a charity show Tuesday.

Other remarkable numbers were paraded by Julian Ormsby-Gore, 27-year-old son of Lord Harlech, the former British ambassador to Washington and a friend of President John F. Kennedy.

This morning's parade was the press preview of a charity show to be held Tuesday at the London Planetarium.

Loud orange and bright purple are Mr. Fish's favored tints for gents. He brings back wide, padded shoulders, above wasp waists and gathered jacket skirts or peplums. Nearly everything is ornamented with male jewelry — wild rhinestone belts, big military decoration-type lapel pins, or jeweled bands of embroidery.

One male model wore a snakeskin shorts suit with a wide orange-jeweled belt. Another sported a champagne silk embroidered harem suit with a rhinestone belt.

Then there were "Mr. and Miss Fish" matching outfits of black tights with quarter black and white knit tabards, a male model in red silk stockings with an orange velvet knickerbocker suit embroidered in red, and another in a quilted, beaded, scalloped waistcoat with pink chiffon frilly shirt and tight white pants.

After that, what can you do for encores? Even Annacat's open-work, see-through white lace trouser suit with open-hanging top failed to titilate.

Evening Ceremony

The altar of Grace Lutheran Church in Lincoln, was appointed with white gladioli, chrysanthemums and ivy on Thursday evening, March 6, for the marriage of Miss Betty Jo Steele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Nielsen of Nelson, to Jerome Elsasser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Elsasser of Atwood, Kan. The service was solemnized at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. Roy Benson.

The matron of honor and bride's only attendant was Mrs. Ralph Nielsen, who wore a daytime sheath frock in powder blue with white lace trim. She carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Serving Mr. Elsasser as best man was Dean Dumler, and the groomsman was David Gates of Kearney.

Designed in the daytime length,the bride's sheath of white taffeta was brocaded in white and silver thread. A princess crown of silver held her shoulder-length veil of illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Elsasser will make their home in Hastings. The bridegroom has attended schools in Lincoln, where he formerly resided.

town talk

Weekends are great things to have around. It really is but a brief period of time — from Friday-to-Sunday, as a rule, but it is amazing how much social activity can be crowded into those few days.

Take a recent weekend, for example, and the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Cantwell—

Mr. and Mrs. Cantwell had a foursome of house guests at their home, and it included Mr. and Mrs. Dan Carle, and their two children, Stephen and Therasa of St. Cloud, Minn., formerly of Lincoln.

The visitors from Minnesota arrived in time for quite a social whirl — at least it was quite a whirl for Mrs. Carle. Her courtesies began on Friday morning when she shared honors with another former Lincoln resident, Mrs. Philip Thorson of Minneapolis, Minn., who, with Mr. Thorson, also was in town for the weekend.

The coffee hostess was Mrs. Morris Adams who entertained at her home.

Complimenting Mrs. Carle on Friday afternoon was Mrs. Albert C. Hamersky who invited a group of Mrs. Carle's old friends to her home for coffee.

And on Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Cantwell honored Mr. and Mrs. Carle when they also entertained old friends and neighbors of the visitors at an informal evening party at their home.

The Fifty Fifty Club somehow never seems to become involved with weekend activity — Its day is Tuesday — Tuesday for dinner-dancing, and Tuesday for bridge.

And next Tuesday evening it is dinner, followed by bridge, at Hotel Cornhusker for Fifty Fifty members.

Chapel Wedding

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Cinq-Mars, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen T. Cinq-Mars of North Attleboro, Mass., to Gary Edward Mouden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ford H. Mouden of Lincoln, on Saturday, March 22. The service was solemnized at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at the Pease Air Force Base Chapel in Portsmouth, N.H.

Mrs. William R. Honea attended the bride as matron of honor, and serving Mr. Mouden as best man was Lt. William R. Honea.

Mr. and Mrs. Mouden left for a short wedding trip after which they will reside in Dover, N.H. On Sunday, March 30, Mr. and Mrs. Cinq-Mars will entertain at a reception at their home in courtesy to their daughter and Mr. Mouden.

A graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University, Mr. Mouden is a member of Theta Chi fraternity.

IN suburbia

For those of you who have yet to realize it, spring is upon us; and for those who have realized it and refuse to believe it — well, just keep the faith! And for the month of March we have some additional words of wisdom: "If at first you don't succeed, try . . . etc., etc., etc."

Sitting around waiting for warmer temperatures, however, is not the most frequently-engaged-in-pastime among Lincoln residents. There is plenty of activity in the suburban areas — As a matter of fact there are those in these areas who would very much like to see a slow-down of this, that and everything that keeps them busy. They even would settle for a let-up.

Last weekend brought busy-ness in the form of entertaining duties to Park Manor residents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter VanDeventer. Arriving in Lincoln for a brief visit with Mr. and Mrs. VanDeventer were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ondracek and daughters, Susan and Janet, of Omaha.

Good-byes were the order of the day recently for Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Adams of Park Manor. On the receiving end of the farewells were Mr. and Mrs. Adams' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller and daughter, Chris, who moved from Lincoln to a new home in Marshalltown, Iowa. Mrs. Adams tells us that she especially misses seeing six-month-old Chris; but there is a happy ending to the story — we understand that the Adams family will be traveling to Marshalltown for an Easter visit with the Millers.

Incidentally, Mr. and Mrs. Adams did a bit of celebrating earlier this week. Tuesday was Mr. Adams' birthday, and guests for the evening included Mr. and Mrs. Terry Adams, son and daughter-in-law of the host and hostess.

Planning for future activity is the current occupation in the Lincoln Heights home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Underhill. Mr. and Mrs. Underhill are preparing for all of the comings and goings which will take place on April 6 when Mr. Underhill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Underhill will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. Although the actual date of their anniversary won't be until April 8, Mr. and Mrs. Underhill will observe the occasion at an Easter Sunday open house at St. Luke's Methodist Church.

Included among those who will be arriving for the festivities are the celebrants' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Underhill; and their grandson and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Underhill and family, all of Hayward, Calif.

Returning to Lincoln recently following an early-spring vacation were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Shoemaker of Trendwood. Mr. and Mrs. Shoemaker boarded the train for a trip to the warmer climates of the West Coast, and while in California they enjoyed visiting with family members. In Sacramento, they were the guests of Mrs. Shoemaker's sister, Miss Marjorie Dewey; and in Lodi they visited with Mr. Shoemaker's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kobes.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Shoemaker found their roles reversed since they were doing a bit of entertaining. Sunday evening visitors were Mrs. Shoemaker's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Standerwick of Mankato, Kan.

A recent visitor in the South Hills neighborhood was Mrs. Louella Smith, who arrived in Lincoln last Friday from her home in Central City. During her six-day stay, Mrs. Smith, a former Lincoln resident, was a guest at the home of her grand-daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stephens and children, Joy, Carol, Dan and Tom.

Lesson Series

A series of training sessions on, "Family Communication", will be conducted by Mrs. M. C. Leonard this week for program leaders of Lancaster County extension clubs.

The sessions, which began Tuesday evening, are being held at the State Farm Company conference room, 5901 O, at 1:30 o'clock, Thursday afternoon; and 9:30 o'clock, Friday morning.

Annual Luncheon

The annual spring luncheon of the University of Nebraska Panhellenic advisors will be held at 1 o'clock, Saturday, at the Lincoln Country Club.

All alumnae advisory board members for sororities on the University of Nebraska campus as well as executive board members of the collegiate Panhellenic will be among the 175 attending the luncheon and program, and special guests will be national and regional sorority officers residing in the area.

A feature of the program will be an informal panel on campus trends and opinions to be presented by coeds, Miss Diane Thiesen, Miss Susan Duncan, Miss Jan McGill and Miss Susan Jenkins, with Miss Kathy Campbell as moderator.

Program

A program on genealogy, "Cherished Lineages", will be presented by Mrs. Henry M. Cox next Tuesday evening following the 7 o'clock dessert-supper of St. Leger Cowley Chapter, DAR.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Rayburn Irwin, 2002 Smith, and the program will include reports on the recent state DAR conference.

Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. B. G. Egger, Mrs. F. S. Dolen, Miss Blanche Newhall, Miss Eliza Newhall, Miss Verdi Smith and Mrs. Charles Gutch.

PEO Chapter

Mrs. Irvin L. Deshayes will be hostess to the members of Chapter DK, PEO, Thursday evening at her home, 3264 So. 17th. The 8 o'clock program, "Hard of Hearing", will be presented by Mr. Deshayes.

Candidates Will Speak

The League of Women Voters of Lincoln will sponsor a "candidates" meeting next Tuesday evening at the Lincoln Center fifth floor auditorium.

All candidates for public office have been invited to speak at the 7 o'clock meeting, which is open to the public. Serving as moderator will be Mrs. James Arnot.

Tri-Delta Officer Honored At Tea

Honored guest at tea, Tuesday afternoon, at the Delta Delta Delta chapter house on the University of Nebraska campus was Mrs. Franklin Buchta of Wauwatosa, Wis. (extreme right), finance director and member of the national board of the sorority.

Mrs. Buchta, who was in Lincoln to meet with members of the Tri-Delta House Corporation and Lincoln alumnae, left Wednesday to continue a series of visits with sorority members throughout the nation.

Honored at the annual spring banquet of Delta Delta Delta, held last Saturday evening at East Hills Club, were Nancy Martens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Martens, high scholarship; Kathryn Buckley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester M. Buckley, activities award; and Patti Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emery W. Nelson, Ideal Pledge.

The awards were presented by Mrs. Vernon Anderson, Alumnae Club president; Mrs. Lloyd True; and Miss Jane Anderson, pledge trainer.

Club Tour Has Been Scheduled

A program on fabrics and draperies by Ward Addis followed the weekly luncheon of the Nebraska Unicameral Ladies Club, Monday afternoon, at Miller and Paine's tea room.

Club guests for the afternoon included Mrs. Robert Henrichs, Mrs. William Brandt, Mrs. Ken Kiers, Mrs. Levi Yost, Mrs. Duane Ellison, Miss Jackie Mohad and Miss Ann Schwartzkopf.

Mrs. Don Elrod of Grand Island, and Mrs. Leslie Robinson of Kearney, were hostesses.

Next Monday, the club members will go to Omaha for luncheon at the Palazzo Restaurant, followed by a tour of Joslyn Art Gallery.

Mrs. Richard Proud of Omaha, and Mrs. Orval Keyes of Papillion will be hostesses

Showers Honor Coed

University of Nebraska coed, Miss Virginia Lee Vallicott, who will become the bride of Larry Bowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Bowers, on Saturday, March 29, has been honored at numerous bridal courtesies in recent weeks.

Last Monday evening, the bride-to-be and her fiance were the honored guests at a dinner held at the Legionnaire Club and for which Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Boucher and Dwight S. McVicker were hosts and hostess.

Monday afternoon, a linen and pottery shower was presented to Miss Vallicott at a luncheon given by Mrs. Joe I. Christensen at the Holiday Inn.

A miscellaneous shower was presented to the soon-to-be bride on Sunday evening following a buffet supper for which Miss Karen Salisbury was hostess at her home.

Miss Vallicott, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Vallicott, was presented a kitchen and pantry shower on Saturday, March 15, when Mrs. Joseph Carlson was a coffee hostess at her home. Also included among recent courtesies for the bride-elect was the party for which Mr. Bowers' sister, Mrs. Charles Foster, Jr., was hostess.

The wedding of Miss Vallicott and her fiance, both seniors at the university where the bride-to-be is a member of Pi Beta Phi, will take place at a 7 o'clock evening ceremony to be solemnized at the First Presbyterian Church.

Party Also A Reunion Of Classmates

It was a gathering of former Bennet School classmates last Thursday evening when Mrs. Douglas Weber and Mrs. Verle Strayer were hostesses in courtesy to spring bride-elect, Miss Joyce Jensen of Bennet, whose marriage to Doyle Haddan will be solemnized Saturday, March 29.

The party was held at the home of Mrs. Weber, and during the informal evennig, a linen shower was presented to the bride-to-be, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jensen of Bennet.

Seated (from the left) are Mrs. Tom Gaston, Mrs. Albert Jensen, the honored guest and Mrs. Marvin Pape. Standing at left is Mrs. Weber, and at right, Mrs. Lee Martin and Mrs. Strayer.

Miss Jensen's fiance, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Haddan of Alexandria, recently returned from service with the Army in Vietnam.

Prenuptial Courtesies

The bridal courtesies are continuing for University of Nebraska coed, Miss Maryellen Flack, who will become the bride of William H. Heggen, III, on Saturday, April 5.

Last Sunday afternoon, the bride-to-be was honored by her Alpha Chi Omega sorority sisters at a personal shower for which Miss Mary Bonde was hostess at her hame. Co-hostesses with Miss Bonde were Miss Kay Rapley of Newburgh, N.J., and Miss Barbara Burkley of Fairbury.

A kitchen shower was presented to Miss Flack on Wednesday evening, March 19, when Mrs. James Shelley was hostess at her home to neighborhood friends of the honored guest.

Entertaining for the bride-elect on Thursday evening, March 6, were Mrs. Dale Johnson and Mrs. Jack Davis who were hostesses at a one-gift shower held at the home of Mrs. Davis. The guests included feminine members of Mr. Heggen's family and family friends.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Flack, the bride-to-be has revealed that her wedding will take place at a 7 o'clock evening service at First Plymouth Church. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Heggen, Jr., and a member of Phi Kappa Psi at the University of Nebraska.

In prenuptial courtesy to a popular bride-elect of April, a series of bridal parties has been planned. Miss Patricia Jane Winterhalter, whose betrothal to Donald Jirsa of Crete, was revealed last winter, already has been honored at several courtesies and on Monday evening, March 31, will share honors with her fiance at a dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. William Burke will be host and hostess.

Entertaining for the bride-to-be on Friday, April 4, will be Mrs. Ron Clark and her daughter, Miss Kelly Clark, who will be luncheon hostesses at their home to the feminine members of Miss Winterhalter's bridal party, and their mothers. The after-luncheon hours will be spent informally and a linen shower will be presented to the honor guest.

BPW Club Election

Mrs. Norman Thorpe was elected president of the Lincoln Business and Professional Women's Club at the group's dinner and meeting held at Diamond Jim's Restaurant.

Also named to office were Mrs. Alice Connealy, first vice president; Miss Gladyce Soukup, second vice president; Mrs. Helen Alfrey, recording secretary; Miss Virginia Parrish, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Dorothy Eddy, treasurer.

Wedding Attendants Are Announced

Miss Nancy Lee Cripe of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cripe of Ruskin, whose marriage to Michael James Henderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Henderson of Wymore, will be solemnized Thursday, March 27, has named Miss Karen Cumming of St. Edward, as her maid of honor.

Her bridesmatrons will be her cousin, Mrs. Kenneth Corman of Superior, and her fiance's sister, Mrs. Edward Scheele of Wymore. Miss Janet Marples of Wymore, will be the flower girl.

Lighting the candles for the evening service, to be solemnized at the Church of Christ in Wymore, will be Miss Gail Ann Russel of Wymore, and the bride-elect's brother, Dan Cripe of Ruskin.

Ted Henderson of Wymore, will serve his brother as best man, and the groomsmen will be Miss Cripe's brother, John Cripe of Ruskin, and Edward Scheele of Wymore. Bob Wathor of Seward, and Don Epp, Jr., Beatrice, will seat the guests, and the ringbearer will be David Corman, Superior.

A senior student at St. Elizabeth Hospital School of Nursing, Miss Cripe was honored at a bridal courtesy on Sunday afternoon, March 16, for which the feminine members of the congregation of the Nora Methodist Church were hostesses at the church.

Honoring the bride-to-be recently was Mrs. Dean Marples who entertained 27 guests at a miscellaneous shower held at her home in Wymore.

For her Saturday afternoon, March 29, wedding, which will take place in the chapel of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Miss Susan Melson has named her sister, Mrs Kenneth Jambor of Richardson, Tex., as her honor attendant.

Miss Melson, who will become the bride of Dave Rader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rader of Ames, Iowa, will be attended by her fiance's sister, Miss Pat Rader of Ames, and Miss Linda Chittenden as her bridesmaids.

Serving Mr. Rader as best man will be Ernie Hulinsky of Omaha, and the groomsmen will be Mr. Rader's brother, Michael Rader of Ames, and Gerald Murphy. Seating the guests for the 2 o'clock service will be Miss Melson's cousin, Jim Melson, and Roger Blecher of Omaha.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Melson, the bride-to-be is a junior at Kearney State College, where her fiance is a senior student.

Rita's Mailbox

Dear Rita: These are the instructions for Finger Puppets. Take a piece of white felt or buckram. Measure it loosely around forefinger, about 3½ inches long, and the width around the finger, lapped over a little bit. Sew or glue down the back, just loose enough to take on and off. Leave top open. Then trim.

Cut pictures (colored) of animals, toys, boys and girls, Santa, snowmen, etc. out of old magazines or cards, and glue them (I use Elmer's) on front of puppets, opposite the sewing side). A little piece of colored felt to match the picture may be pasted over the top, shaped like a little hat, cap or scarf.

When playing with the puppets, (animating them), put picture toward the audience so they can see it. These puppets can be put on the three middle fingers loosely, but tight enough not to fall off. Children can play show with them.

Hope this isn't too complicated. Sincerely, A Puppet Maker, Lincoln.

Here is another fine idea from Mrs. Edward Aksamit of Hallam who gave us the idea for the wax tree. Thank you, Mrs. Aksamit and Puppet Maker for your fine contributions to the column.

Dear Rita: Here is an idea for a hat I enjoy making. You will need one yard of material, 25 inches of ¼ inch wide elastic and 48 inches of medium weight wire, about the thickness of the lead of a pencil.

First make a pattern for the crown of the hat by folding a square piece of paper (about 20 inches square) in half from bottom to top. Fold from right to left in half again to have four thicknesses of paper that form a square. Tie a piece of string to a pencil. Hold the string on the corner of the paper that is the center of the 20 inch square. Have the pencil 9 inches from the corner and draw a curved line on the paper. This should produce an 18 inch circle from which you will cut two circles of the material. The rest of the material will be cut into 2 strips each 8 or 9 inches wide and sewed into one long strip for the brim.

Place the wrong sides of the crown together. Pin or baste to hold together. Place the brim material on the crown, the right sides together with the brim material on the crown in order to sew one edge of the brim to both crowns.

Next, fold the other edge of the brim down ¼ inch toward the crown, sewing the folded material onto the crown. The brim will now be about 4 inches wide and double. Sew another seam about three-eighths inches wide around the crown on the brim of the hat and insert the fourth inch elastic. Sew it or tie it in two knots, until you see how tight you want the hat to fit, then sew the ends together. Put the wire in the fold of the inside of the brim, fasten and adjust it to make it hold the brim tight. Finish the opening where the wire has been inserted by hand.

This hat can be made the same way, using only one piece of material for the crown. I use two, as they are neater looking and more protection from the sun.

Abby: better scrub less and face reality

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the woman who had fallen in love with her pastor interested me because I, too, am in love with my pastor and always will be.

You advised that woman to change to a sister church and to keep her "love" to herself. A minister wrote in, disagreeing with your advice, and said he would advise the woman to confess her love for her minister, after which he would recommend that she see a psychiatrist who would help her to work her problems thru.

You were both wrong. In my case, neither changing churches nor seeing a psychiatrist could ever change my love.

Here is my recommendation: In public, be a good actress, and pretend only a platonic, friendly interest in him. At home, keep busy, busy, busy. Scrub the floor TWICE, instead of once, if necessary; pursue interesting and time-consuming hobbies to keep the mind from dwelling on "him."

According the the "rules," I must not be in love with this remarkable man who is the most wonderful person I have ever known. But my heart does not know these "rules," and my love for him will endure as long as I live.

IN LOVE FOREVER

DEAR "IN LOVE": Since you've already convinced yourself that you will be in love with this unattainable man "forever," you surely shall be. A "love" which is neither expressed nor reciprocated brings only frustration and pain. If you choose to punish yourself by looking, listening, and longing, with no hope of fulfillment, you are welcome to the pleasure — and pain. I suggest you scrub less and face reality.

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

Bridge is an exacting game that depends largely on flawless reasoning. It is true you can occasionally stray from the straight and narrow and still come home safe and sound, but if you regularly make careless bids or plays, you will from time to time have to pay for your transgressions.

South was in four spades and the defense got off to a fast start when they cashed the K-A-Q of diamonds in succession. West then shifted to the ten of hearts.

Declarer won with the ace and started to draw trumps, expecting to easily make the rest. But when he led the ace, West showed out and there was now no way to prevent East from winning a trump trick. So South went down one.

Of course, South as unlucky to find the trumps divided 4-0. This would not ordinarily occur in more than one deal out of ten. Consequently his play of the ace of spades, though technically wrong, would make absolutely no difference in the overwhelming majority of deals.

But in this deal, with East having all four spades, the play was fatal and South went down one instead of making the contract.

The proper way of attacking the trumps was to first lead low to the king. With West showing out, picking up East's trumps without loss would then become child's play.

If East followed low on the first trump lead from dummy, South would finesse the nine; if East put up the ten instead, South would win with the queen, cross to dummy with a club, and lead another trump to trap East's J-7.

Playing the spades in the proper order was simply a question of guarding against a 4-0 division. If West had all four, no method of play could stop him from winning a trick. But if East had them, only a low spade to the king would expose the situation and permit South to avoid a trump loser.

Gleason, Namath Bring Vaudeville To Golf World

Miami, Fla. (AP) — "Suppose a ball gets lost in your beard," Jackie Gleason said to Joe Namath, "can I play it out?"

"Yeah, you can shake it out," countered Namath. "Your mouth is as fat as your belly. I'm going to cream you today."

"You have to hit the ball into the cup, you can't throw it in," said Gleason.

The crowd went into hysterics. It's easy to see why vaudeville died.

Vaudeville came to big time golf Wednesday when Gleason, the fat TV comedian, and Namath, the bearded New York Jets quarterback who looks like a character out of Arabian Nights, were paired in the $5,000 charity duel.

The straight men were Arnold Palmer, the golfing capitalist who goes around with his own private army, and Dr. Hans Zimmerman, a retired Honolulu internist. The doctor paid $10,000 for the privilege of completing the millionaire foursome in the pro-am tournament preceding the $200,000 National Airlines Open, starting Thursday.

"I've always admired Palmer and I'm getting to like Namath. I don't care much for Gleason," said the 64-year-old physician, a gray-haired man with thick spectacles. "Besides, the money goes to a children's hospital — a good cause."

The German-born doctor swung with all his might on the first tee and the ball dribbled about 100 yards. Everybody thought he might ask for his money back.

Gleason wore a red hat, red patent-leather shores and a pair of red checkered slacks which one pundit said looked like a tablecloth from an Italian restaurant. A banquet table.

Namath wore candy-striped cotton slacks that fit his fragile football legs like paper on the wall.

Before he teed off, hitting a lady-like slice, Gleason yelled over to Palmer: "Okay, Arnie, don't be nervous."

The gallery chortled.

Jackie obviously missed his script writers. If it had been for real intead of fun, the show would have been cancelled.

Namath, who grips a club as if he's trying to choke it to death, hit a curve ball to left field. It would have been a foul in Yankee Stadium.

Palmer, upstaged, sent a screamer down the middle of the fairway and about a thousand people, who paid $6 a head to follow the foursome, trooped down the fairway in a peppering rain.

What was it that Barnum said?

Mercifully, the heavy rainstorm stopped play after nine holes — canceling the pro-am — with Namath 4-up on his 260-pound adversary. Gleason wrote a $5,000 check to charity, using an overlapping grip.

DON'T LAUGH, IT'S MY COURSE' . . . Namath, left, golf pro Doug Sanders, center, and Gleason laugh it up.

R. RAY ON HIS WAY AT FONNER

Cisneros, Drake Win GG Battles

Kansas City (AP) — Two members of the Omaha team survived the quarterfinals of the 42nd National Golden Gloves Tournament here Wednesday night.

Tom Cisneros moved into the semifinals in the 119-pound class by outpointing Cecil Beverly of Washington, D.C.

In the 147-pound quarterfinal action, Tony Drake advanced with a decision over Lenny Harden of Washington, D.C.

Two other fighters on the Omaha team were eliminated.

Greg Potter of Kansas City ousted Junior Pelster in the 125-pound class and Ron Stander lost a heavyweight decision to Walker Moore Jr. of Los Angeles.

Mike Quarry of Anaheim, Calif., following in the footsteps of his older brother, Jerry, took another step toward the light heavyweight championship.

Quarry knocked down George Trice of Louisville for the mandatory eight-count in the third round but had to settle for a unanimous decision in his quarterfinal match.

He now meets rugged John Santiago of Roswell, N.M., who scored a decision over Dan Carrigan of Grand Rapids, Mich., in Thursday night's semifinals. The finals will also be fought Thursday night.

Jerry Quarry, a leading professional heavyweight contender, was at ringside for the second night to cheer for his brother. Jerry knocked out five opponents in the 1965 meet here, then turned pro.

Only knockout in the light heavyweight and heavyweight quarter-finals was scored by Tom Van Hoof of Minneapolis. His fight with Alvin Yates of Indianapolis was halted at 1:34 of the third round when Yates, who had been cut earlier, ran into a right that stunned him.

119—Tom Cisneros, Scottsbluff, decisioned Cecil Beverly, Washington, D.C.
125—Greg Potter, Kansas City, dec. Junior Pelster, Norfolk.
147—Tony Drake, Lincoln, dec. Lenny Harden, Washington, D.C.
Hwt.—Walker Moore, Jr., Los Angeles, dec. Ron Stander, Omaha.

KC Icers Win, Gain Advantage For Omaha Set

Tulsa, Okla. — Kansas City defeated Tulsa, 4-2, to clinch second place in the Northern Division of the Central Hockey League in the teams' regular-season finale Wednesday night.

The victory gives Kansas City 70 points, one more than the Omaha Knights, who finished in third place. Tulsa won the division title with 72 points.

As a result of the victory Kansas City will have home ice in three games of the best-of-five playoff series with Omaha which begins Friday. Here is the playoff game schedule:

First game — Friday, Omaha at Kansas City.
Second game — Saturday, Kansas City at Omaha.
Third game — Sunday, Omaha at Kansas City.
Fourth game, if necessary — Tuesday, April 1, Kansas City at Omaha.
Fifth game, if necessary — Wednesday, April 2, Omaha at Kansas City.

Apprentice Gets First Thoroughbred Triumph

. . . RAY SCORES ON STAUFFER FILLY

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

Grand Island — The key to success in many fields is making a name for yourself.

This is as true in Thoroughbred horse racing as in any other business and probably no one is more aware of this than apprentice jockey Roy Ray.

"Breaking in and making a name is the big thing," Ray said prior to Wednesday's races at Fonner Park.

A few minutes later the 21-year-old native of Berryville, Ark., took a big step toward making a name for himself when he whipped home his first winner on a recognized Thoroughbred track.

Ray's winning mount was Dollar Bird, a four-year-old filly whose owner and trainer, Don Stauffer, is a rookie of sorts, too.

Stauffer, a top jockey on the Nebraska circuit, was seriously injured in a mishap at Atokad two years ago, and has since retired as a rider. His attention has turned to the owning and training end of the racing business and Dollar Bird was the first winner Stauffer has saddled in this new role.

For Ray, it took a while to get into the winner's circle, but things should get progressively better.

After a successful career as a quarter horse rider in Michigan, Oklahoma and Arkansas, Ray decided to turn to the Thoroughbred sport.

He rode last year at Del Mar and Pomona in California, then rode in a few races at Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs, Ark., where brother Lonnie, who got Roy interested in racing, is currently the second leading jockey.

Still seeking his first win, Ray came to Fonner where he drew his first mount, Sugar Sharon, which finished well back in the sixth race Tuesday.

Wednesday was Ray's big day. And in addition to his winner Ray also took a third aboard Mae Bust in the third race, a four-furlong test for two-year-old maidens.

Ray hopes he has begun to prove himself and will get the chance to ride better horses as time goes on.

"You have to have a good horse, but you've got to ride a little, too, if you're going to win," Ray says.

While he's a relative newcomer to Thoroughbred racing, Ray says he doesn't get very nervous before a race and he credits this to his experience riding quarter horses.

"The first five races I rode in California, I was nervous," he admitted. "But after that you get used to it. It's just like riding quarter horses."

Ray says riding is "just a job" to him, but admits he enjoys the traveling life (moving from track to track) and the excitement of winning.

Texas Ags Visits NU In TV Tilt

New York (AP) — Nebraska and Oklahoma will participate in non-conference games as part of three college football games involving Big Eight teams on national television next fall.

The American Broadcasting Company announced a schedule Wednesday of 37 college grid games it will televise in 1969, two more than last year.

Nebraska will host Texas A&M September 27 as one of five regionally-telecast games that day, while a conference game between Oklahoma and Missouri at Columbia, Mo., will be one of four regional attractions November 8.

Oklahoma plays Texas at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas as the game of the day all over the nation on October 11.

Roone Arledge, ABC-TV president and executive producer of ABC Sports, said there will be 11 national telecasts and 26 regional telecasts, two more than last season. All will be in color.

Also included are four night games, Air Force-Southern Methodist Sept. 13, Mississippi-Alabama Oct. 4, North Dame-Georgia Tech Nov. 15 and UCLA-Southern California Nov. 22.

In addition to the published schedule, the network also has the option to pick one extra game, a "wild card game," for telecast sometime during the season. The game or games already scheduled for that date still will be televised.

A total of 46 different teams are scheduled to appear, with Texas and Arkansas making the most frequent appearances, three each.

The schedule, with all times to be announced later:
Sept. 13—Air Force at Southern Methodist, night.
Sept. 20—Texas at California (East, West Coast, parts of the Southeast, parts of the Midwest, most of the Southwest); Indiana at Kentucky (most of the Midwest, most of the Southeast); Kent State at Ohio U. (Ohio); Arizona at Wyoming (Rocky Mountains and parts of the Southwest).

Jaycees Seek Softball Tourney

The Lincoln Jaycees will again submit a host bid for the 1969 State AAA Softball Tournament at the annual convention of the Nebraska Amateur Softball Assn., Saturday.

Roberts-Skyline of Lincoln won the 1968 tourney held for the first time in the Capital City after a long stay in DeWitt.

Bids will be approved for six state tournaments Saturday at the American Legion Post No. 3 — men's open fast pitch, men's Class A fast pitch, men's slow pitch, women's open fast pitch, women's Class A fast pitch and school division fast pitch.

District bids will also be approved for men's and women's Class A tournaments.

Lincoln's AAA league has grown to nine teams for the 1969 season running from May 5 to Aug. 8. League officials are hoping for a 10th entry, possibly from Wahoo, before play begins.

Teams will be involved in a 24-game season which will not be split as last year. Each team meets the other league clubs three times each. The state tourney begins Aug. 21.

Two new entrants in the league this summer will be the Tack Room Bar and Citizens State Bank. Bud Burmood Painting will take over sponsorship of the former Bauer's Bavarian Mints club. Burmood's 1968 club disbanded and Bauer's chose not to sponsor a team this year.

Other teams are King's Food Host, Roberts-Skyline, The Spigot, KOLN-TV, Dick Flynn's Motor City and Bob's Tavern.

Don Porter, executive secretary of the American Softball Assn., will be the featured speaker at Saturday's convention.

Also to be discussed at the meeting will be a possible statewide league of teams from Lincoln, Grand Island, Kearney, Hastings, Fremont and Columbus playing home and away doubleheaders on Sundays during the summer.

Peru Prep Track Meet Cancelled By Weather

Peru — The Peru State high school invitational track meet scheduled for Friday and Saturday has been cancelled, according to Tom Fitzgerald, assistant professor of physical education and meet director.

The weekend rain and snow made it impossible to get the track ready for the early season meet. Thirty-three teams had entered the meet, Fitzgerald said.

Carl Sanderson Named To Head Legion Sales

Hastings — Carl Sanderson, a Hastings insurance executive, has been named ticket sales chairman for the American Legion World Series, which will be held in Hastings August 28 through September 2.

Sanderson is an Aurora native, and a product of the Aurora Legion baseball program. He graduated from Hastings College.

Colorado-Led Team Wins AAU Cage Test

Macon, Ga. (AP) —Boulder, Colo., rode a second-half outburst to a 74-58 conquest of Hughes-Metzger of Topeka, Kan., in the seventh game of the first round of the National AAU Basketball Tournament Wednesday night.

In other games, Goodyear of Akron, Ohio, defeated Happy Burger of Logansport, Ind., 76-63; Macon tipped Toledo, Ohio, 88-80; West Virginia State jolted the Turf Club of Merced, Calif., 97-76; Stephen F. Austin College of Texas smashed Burger Chef of Indianapolis 106-82, and Jerry's Restaurant of Lexington, Ky., clipped Aztec Empire of Portland, Ore., 90-66.

The Boulder team, composed mostly of University of Colorado players, was held to a 28-28 half-time tie by Topeka. But, Boulder outscored Topeka 18-4 in a five-minute surge that swept the Colorado club to a 52-40 edge midway in the second half.

Ed Williams of the University of Colorado led Boulder with 20 points. Wendell Madkins, former Texas Western star, added 19. The Topeka leader, with 15 points, was Jim Chroust.

The early winners and the victors in the final two games Wednesday night advance into Thursday's quarter-finals.

Bob Cerv Cautious About JFK Slate

. . . LOTS OF RETURNING LETTERMEN

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Wahoo — With lettermen at nearly every position and five returning pitchers from last year's 21-12 club, it would seem that John F. Kennedy College baseball coach Bob Cerv couldn't find much to cry about.

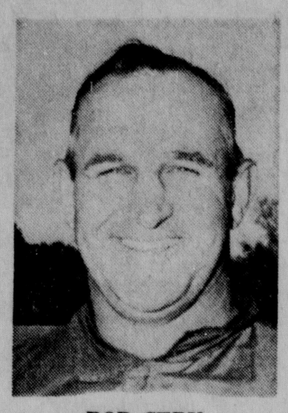
But, like all coaches, the former University of Nebraska, New York Yankee and Kansas City Athletics star looks at the new season through cautious eyes.

Cerv admits that his 1969 Patriots should be better than last year, but is quick to point out that, with four-to-five inches of snow still surrounding the home diamond, he hasn't been able to get in much practice.

"I hope we'll improve," Cerv says, "but I don't know about the weather. It's hurt us quite a bit. We haven't had a chance to do much work except in the gym."

The Wahoo club hasn't got much time to get into shape either with a doubleheader scheduled against Nebraska Wesleyan at 1 p.m. Saturday in Lincoln, kicking off a slate of 16 doubleheaders.

"If we play, it'll probably be our first everything," Cerv says. "Maybe I'll find it's better to train that way."



BOB CERV

The Patriots had managed only one hitting and one infield practice as of Tuesday.

Cerv, who says he never has had a very good hitting team, says another problem he faces this year is replacing Ralph Kreikemeier, last year's leading hitter, in left field.

Kreikemeier, who hit .343 last season, was killed last summer in a fall from a scaffold.

To fill the vacancy, Cerv is looking to freshman Bob Rockwell of Ponca. If Rockwell fails to fill Kreikemeier's shoes, Tim Mayo is listed as a top prospect.

Pitching is also listed among Cerv's woes, although he admits he probably has more depth in that area than ever before. The five returnees accounted for 18 of JFK's 21 wins in 1968.

"I always say our weakest spot is pitching," Cerv says. "If the pitchers do well, we usually do well." well."

Sophomore Ed Miller, a lefthander, and righthanders James Pickering and Paul Breemes are considered by Cerv as the best of the five returning pitchers.

In addition, he feels he has a couple of top freshman prospects in Gary Orlowski and Steve Carr. Orlowski is a lefty, while Carr throws right.

Breemes had the Patriots' best earned run average last year, allowing less than one run per inning.

In the infield, Cerv has picked up highly regarded Earl Hicks, a junior college transfer from California, who moves in at third base.

The addition of Hicks to the JFK infield has forced last year's third baseman, Barry Bass, into the shortstop slot in a move Cerv hopes will strengthen the infield.

"He has the potential to play professional ball," Cerv says of Bass.

Also in the infield for the Patriots will be Jim Cranbeck, a .300 hitter, at second and Ed Mancini, another .300 hitter, at first. Kenny Bush — "a real good catcher" — will be behind the plate. All are veterans.

Joining Rockwell in the outfield are lettermen Pete Brandman in center and Terry Ohnoutka in right field.

Peru Baseball Opener Changed To Road Tilt

Peru — The opening game for Joe Pelisek's Peru State College baseball team scheduled for the Peru diamond Saturday will be played at Northwest Missouri State College at Maryville.

The condition of the Peru diamond prompted the move. The Bobcats will host the Bearcats on May 6.

Gable Leads Big Eight Wrestlers Into NCAA

. . . BRIGHAM YOUNG HOSTS NATIONALS

Provo, Utah (AP) — It will be tough to tell the players, even with a program, when the NCAA wrestling championships get under way this afternoon at Brigham Young University.

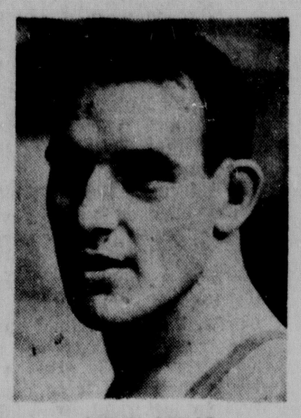
More than 400 wrestlers from 106 colleges and universities will be fighting, a dozen at a time, through six sessions before the field is pared for the finals Saturday night.

New champions will be crowned in all 11 weight divisions since the only returning titlists have moved to higher classifications.

Dan Gable won the 130-pound class for Iowa State last year, but will be going for the 137-pound title this year. Lock Haven's Ken Melchoir has moved up to 123 pounds after winning the championship at 115 pounds in 1968.

There'll be at least 14 other undefeated wrestlers providing the potential of explosive battles in the finals, depending on the first-round seeding.

The heavyweight final, for instance, could see nearly a quarter-ton of skill on the mat if Jess Lewis of Oregon State and Jeff Smith of Michigan State make it as predicted.



GENE LIBAL

Lewis was the national runnerup last year and Smith third. Both are unbeaten this season.

Gable's vacating the 130 pound division leaves the field open for undefeated David McGuire of Oklahoma. He won the title in 1967, then lost it to Gable last year.

McGuire's stiffest test may come from Colorado State College's Len Groom, college division champ and undefeated in 25 matches.

Gable's toughest competitor could be Marty Willigan of Hofstra, who has been whipped only once — by Gable — or Ron Russo, Bloomsburg State. Russo has a 17-0-2 record.

Undefeated Cleo McGlory of Oklahoma will try for the 160-pound title, after placing second the past two years. But his division also has Jerry Rushing of Arizona, 23-0 for the season.

Terry Hall of Cal Poly won 19 matches without defeat and captured the college division 115-pound title. Yet Sergio Gonzales of UCLA, runnerup last year, is favored.

Another college division champion from Cal Poly, 191-pound Tom Kline, placed second in 1968.

The Big Eight's wrestling big three — Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Iowa State — and Michigan State of the Big Ten are rated as co-favorites for the team title. Oklahoma State has won the title 26 times in the past 39 tournaments.

The University of Nebraska will send two wrestlers to the nationals, Bobby Orta going at 115 pounds and Gene Libal at 191.

Doane's New Arena Starts

Crete — Groundbreaking for Doane's new $625,000 Fuhrer Fieldhouse will be held Thursday morning. Completion is expected in December.

The physical education complex is named for the Fuhrer family, in memory of Earl and in honor of his brother John, of Lincoln, for his contributions to Doane and higher education.

Fuhrer Fieldhouse will house two basketball courts, four tennis courts and six volleyball or handball courts.

The arena can be arranged for indoor track. The track will be one-tenth of a mile long with 60-yard straightaways.

New State Loop Still In Planning

Athletic directors and faculty representatives from six Nebraska state colleges met Tuesday night in Seward for another in a series of meetings concerning the creation of a new athletic conference in the state.

Paul Peterson, athletic director at Dana College in Blair, said Wednesday, "we are conducting a thorough study for the purpose of formulating and creating a new conference in Nebraska."

Schools involved in meetings which began some time ago and are expected to continue past Easter are, Dana, Midland, Concordia, Nebraska Wesleyan, Doane and Hastings.

Peterson indicated at least three or four more meetings would be needed to iron out the many problems surrounding evolvement of such a league.

Dana, Midland and Concordia are currently member of the Tri-State Conference, but Peterson said he expected no difficulty over membership status for these schools in two leagues.

Rookie Peps Yanks Past McLain By 7-2

. . . FRESHMAN ALSO HELPS METS

By Associated Press

Rookie Bobby Murcer tagged a home run and a double Wednesday leading the New York Yankees to a 7-2 exhibition baseball victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Murcer, who now has 22 spring hits, crashed his homer off Denny McLain, ace of the Tiger staff, who worked the first six innings for Detroit. Bill Burbach, another New York rookie, allowed just one hit in the six innings he pitched.

Jim McAndrew pitched six shutout innings and rookie Wayne Garrett tagged a pair of home runs, leading the New York Mets to a 6-3 victory over Cincinnati. Alex Johnson rapped a three-run homer for the Reds.

Tim McCarver's two-out, two-run double carried St. Louis to a 2-1 victory over Boston. The Cards bunched three of their four hits off Ray Culp to score both their runs in the fourth inning.

The White Sox used hits by Luis Aparicio and Duane Josephson, a walk and an error for a pair of first inning runs that beat Pittsburgh 2-1.

The Chicago Cubs ripped Sam McDowell for six runs in the fourth inning and walloped Cleveland 10-0 for their fourth straight victory. Ken Holtzman went seven innings, striking out six.

Frank Howard tagged his first home run of the spring but Baltimore rallied for a pair of runs in the eighth inning to nip Washington 3-2. Bobby Floyd's single drove in the Orioles tying run and then the winner came across on an error by Senator catcher, Paul Casanova.

Minnesota rallied for three runs in the ninth inning to defeat the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3. Larry Hisle smacked a pair of three-run homers and rookie Ron Stone had four hits including a homer, leading a 13-hit Philadelphia attack that carried the Phillies to an 11-1 victory over Houston.

Juan Marichal allowed one run in the first six innings he worked and then was tagged for three in the seventh against Seattle. But San Francisco hung on for a 7-5 victory over the Pilots.

The Kansas City-Atlanta and Montreal-Yankee "B" team games were cancelled by rain.

Sale Of Eagles To Trucker Confirmed

Baltimore (AP) — Sale of the Philadelphia Eagles on a conditional contract to Leonard H. Tose, Norristown, Pa., trucking executive, was confirmed Wednesday in a hearing before a federal bankruptcy referee.

Joseph O. Kaiser, the referee, said final settlement for the team would have to be made on May 1, but that the present owner, Jerry Wolman, would have the right to repurchase it by Aug. 1.

In an unusual development, Tose admitted that the price had now gone up to $16,155,000, caused by an agreement that he would pay the fee of a Washington broker. The broker, Robert Melnick, will receive a $100,000 fee paid by Tose in addition to the $16,055,000 originally bid for the team.

Tose told a newsman after the hearing that he could make no decisions for the team until May 1, when he expects to be the executive head of the Eagles organization.

"I will have the final say, including the band," he said, adding that he expected to delegate authority "to people I put in charge."

Questioned about the future of Joe Kuharich, Eagles coach-general manager, Tose emphasized that he could make no decisions at present, but added: "If he's going to be fired, I want to be the one to tell him."

He said that he would not consider Kuharich for any spot in the Eagles organization if the decision were made to let him go as coach.

At another point, Tose said that he was considering combining the jobs of coach and general manager into one.

Ownership of the team, Tose said, would fulfill "a deep seated interest I have had since a young man." He added all members of his family also were "gung-ho for ownership of the team."

EVER-BRIGHT PORCH & FLOOR ENAMEL

GIVES EXTRA-TOUGH ENAMEL PROTECTION to interior and exterior floors (wood, metal, concrete), boat decks, basement walls, porch furniture, sidewalks, garage walls, wood trim, metal piping and machinery. Just brush it on...dries quickly and evenly to a tile-like, yet elastic finish. Davis Ever-Bright Porch & Floor Enamel withstands frequent scrubbings and is scratch and scuff resistant. Available in black, white and an infinite variety of colors.

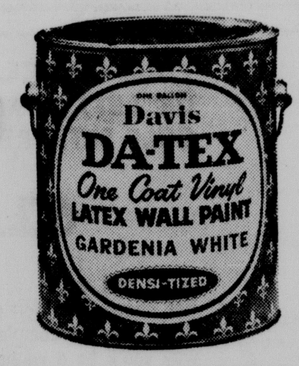
REGULARLY $2.60 QUART
SPECIAL AT $1.89 QUART

LATEX "22" WALL PAINT

HERE'S BEAUTY AT A BARGAIN PRICE. Use Davis Latex "22" on interior walls and ceilings. Dries in minutes to a beautiful glare-free finish. Applies easily to any interior painted or unpainted surface of plaster, wallboard, brick, wallpaper or composition material. No laps, streaks or brush marks and tools wash out with soap and water. Select from a wide choice of the newest colors. Matching colors for woodwork and trim available in Davis Da-Tex Semi-Lustre.

REGULARLY $4.99 GALLON
SPECIAL AT $3.99 GALLON

SAVE NOW ON DAVIS DA-TEX



IT'S THE VINYL LATEX WALL PAINT THAT COVERS IN ONE COAT...half the work. One coat covers completely because Da-Tex is Densi-Tised. This means it's thicker to glide onto your walls evenly with less drip, less spatter and no show-through. Use Da-Tex in any room in your home...on any interior surface. It dries in just 23 minutes without paint odor. Clean-up's a snap with soap and water and your newly-painted wall is guaranteed washable. Choose from a complete range of beautiful colors. Matching colors for woodwork and trim available in Davis Da-Sheen Satin Enamel.

REGULARLY $7.69 GALLON

FORGET HOUSE PAINTING FOR 8 YEARS

HOLD-TITE VINYL LATEX HOUSE PAINT LOOKS GREAT ON YOUR HOME...long after ordinary paint jobs have had to be repeated. When applied as directed, Hold-Tite protects up to eight long years. It "breathes out" the inside moisture that causes blisters and peeling to eliminate these unsightly problems. And it's so easy. It goes on evenly, without laps, sags or streaking...in almost any kind of weather. Dries in minutes with no surface mars from bugs, leaves or dust. It's rain-proof, too. When you're finished, plain water cleans everything up in a jiffy. Choose from the "whitest" white there is or from the big selection of the latest colors. If surface needs priming, pick up Davis Da-Luxe House Paint Primer.

IMPORTANT: This may happen after painting: Where old paint is blistering or peeling, you must scrape down to bare wood and prime with Davis Da-Luxe House Paint Primer. Then, proceed as directed on the label of Hold-Tite House Paint. In some cases after a home has been painted with Hold-Tite, some peeling may occur where the old paint was not removed, usually near the places scraped. Actually, despite appearances, such old paint was not holding well. Merely scrape and touch up these places with Davis Da-Luxe House Paint Primer and a subsequent coat of Hold-Tite.

Seven Injured As 4 Trucks, 2 Cars Collide

Chappell (AP) — Seven persons were injured — one seriously — in the pileup of two automobiles and four trucks on U.S. Highway 30 about three miles east of here late Wednesday.

The State Patrol said one of the three semi-trailer trucks involved was carrying 78 250-pound bombs. The Patrol said some of the bombs slid through the front end of the trailer into the truck's cabin sleeper.

The accident, the Patrol said, occurred during a dust storm.

Listed by doctors at a Chappell hospital as being in serious condition was Forrest Bauer of Lincoln.

Listed in good condition were Earl Jenkins and his son Mike, both of South Bend, Ind.; Mrs. Beckler, her daughter, Mrs. Mary McCall, and Mrs. McCall's daughter, thought to be about two years of age, all of Chappell.

The driver of the explosives truck was treated for minor cuts and released. He was identified by doctors as Stanley Kenney of El Reno, Okla.

The patrol said none of the bombs exploded. However, the Patrol said the wreckage could not be removed until inspected by a representative of the Federal Department of Transportation. The road remained open to one-way traffic late Wednesday night.

Allen Named To Head Midwest Life

Allen

Hyde

S. Turner Allen, formerly of Wichita, Kan., Wednesday was named president, chief executive officer and a member of the board of directors of the Midwest Life Insurance Company of Lincoln.

Allen was elected to the top Midwest Life position upon the resignation of A. Leicester Hyde who will continue with the firm as chairman of the board.

Experienced in all phases of the life insurance business, Allen is the former president and chief executive officer of The Farmers and Bankers Life Insurance Company of Wichita.

Allen's election came during the board of directors meeting following the annual shareholders meeting here.

Hyde reported to shareholders that the company had just completed the "greatest year" in the firm's 63-year history.

During 1968, life insurance written by Midwest Life established a new high with a record gain of almost $23 million, boosting the individual life insurance-in-force to over $261.5 million, Hyde announced.

Total life insurance-in-force amounted to nearly $310 million as of Dec. 31, 1968, including the $48 million in the Servicemen's Group Life Insurance Plan, according to the board chairman.

Total assets of the Nebraska-based company exceed the $35.5 million mark, shareholders were told. Almost one-third of the firm's invested assets are invested in the state, Hyde said. The Midwest Life home office payroll totals more than $600,000 annually.

Operational territory of Midwest Life during the past year was extended to 17 western and midwestern states. Plans to continue expansion have been made, he noted.

In addition to Allen's election to the board, shareholders re-elected directors LaVaun C. (Larry) Price, president of King's Food Host; Dr. Vance D. Rogers, president of Nebraska Wesleyan University; and O. D. Trombla, former president of Standard Reliance Insurance Co.

Continuing as members of the board are Kenneth B. Clark of Clark, Enersen, Olsson, Burroughs & Thomsen, architects; Adna A. Dobson, vice president of Dobson Brothers Construction Co.; H. C. Henderson, senior vice president & general counsel; Stanford Miller, president of Employers Reinsurance Corporation; Dr. Snell W. Putney, professor at San Jose State College; W. W. Putney, honorary chairman of the board; E. B. Reed, M.D., medical director; Paul C. Schorr, III, vice president of Commonwealth Electric Co.; Ernest L. Smith, retired vice president of Magee's; Eleanor F. Snell, director of physical education at Ursinus College; and, Gene H. Tallman, president of Universal Surety Co.

Jean R. Kinder, a director since 1924, passed away Aug. 22, 1968.

Executive, administrative and supervisory officers appointed for 1969 were:

A. Leicester Hyde, chairman of the board.
W. W. Putney, honorary chairman of the board.
S. Turner Allen, C.L.U., president & chief executive officer.
H. C. Henderson, senior vice president & general counsel.

"BUFFALO BILL" COMMEMORATIVES

Exclusively from Winchester... the only rifle and carbine authorized by the Buffalo Bill Memorial Association

At last! Winchester pays the highest tribute to the most heroic adventurer of the old west. Col. William F. Cody actually used and praised the lever action as one of his favorite firearms. These lever action Winchester 94's truly capture the spirit of Buffalo Bill in fine wood and steel. Every feature conjures up memories of wide, buckskin colored prairies and mountain ranges where he roamed. Hammer, trigger, loading gate, forearm tip, and buttplate gleam with high-polish nickel plating. Elaborate scrollwork, appropriate inscriptions on octagon barrel and upper tang. Commemorative medallion imbedded in stock, crescent buttplate. Bead post front sight and semi-buckhorn rear sight as they were in the days of the great buffalo hunts. American walnut stock and forearm shine with a high gloss finish, steel barrel. Straight-line design from toe to receiver—the true mark of Winchester 94. From octagon barrel to crescent buttplate, this firearm is truly a collector's treasure. In 30-30 caliber only.

Market Is Buoyed By Peace Hopes

New York — The stock market, buoyed by the renewed peace hopes, turned in its first winning performance of the week Wednesday.

"It looks like another rally may be getting under way," brokers said.

"The market drew a lot of its strength from the favorable impression created by South Vietnam's offer to meet privately with the Viet Cong," they said. "Many investors hope this will bring a breakthrough in the peace talks."

The Dow Jones industrial average was up from the start and closed the session with a gain of 6.22 points at 923.3. The Dow closed unchanged Tuesday after losing 2.92 points Monday.

Volume was 11.03 million shares, compared with 9.82 million shares Tuesday, and 8.12 million shares Monday.

Advances jumped to an early lead over declines and never lost the advantage. Of 1,564 issues traded, 785 gained and 546 were lower. New highs for the year totaled 50 and new lows 120.

Blocks of 10,000 shares or more on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 65, against 55 Tuesday.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,200 common stocks was up 0.37 at 56.21.

Conglomerates, which have been under pressure recently, firmed a bit. Ling-Temco-Vought, which lost 6¼ points Tuesday, was the seventh most-active issue on the New York Exchange, gaining 1⅝ to 58⅞. Loew's Theatres gained 2⅜. AMK Corp. and White Consolidated Industries lost fractions. Gulf & Western Industries, the fourth most-active, was off 1½.

Steel, motors and rubber issues generally were higher. Utilities were mixed.

Seventeen of the 20 most active issues on the New York Exchange showed gains while 3 declined.

Of the 20 most active issues on the American Stock Exchange, 15 advanced and 5 declined.

Fed Steers, Heifers Dip At Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Cattle trade at Omaha was rather slow Wednesday as compared with the fast pace of recent sessions, and values on fed steers and heifers turned in a steady to mostly 25 cent lower direction.

Most of the downward pressure was evident on lighter weight, inbetween quality "chain store" steers and good to low-choice heifers. These have been fairly numerous in the relatively small consist of recent weeks and had been selling at a substantial premium compared with the expected yield from such cattle.

A load of choice to prime 1,280 lb. fed beeves topped at 32.25. Bulk choice downward to 29.25, few loads strictly high-choice on late rounds 30.75-31.25. During the session steers over 1,150 lbs. sold mainly upward from 29.75, lighter weights down to the 29.25 figure with inbetween quality good and choice at 28.50 and up.

Heifer top held at 30.00 for a load choice to prime 1,025 lb. weights. Comparable grade 1,068 lbs. 29.75, several shipments strictly high-choice 29.35-29.50, bulk choice down to 28.

Reaction nipped the hog market also as supplies increased. Butchers were mostly 50 cents lower. Sows ruled steady to mostly 25 cents lower.

Around a load of well-sorted butchers returned 21.50, bulk top 21.25. Sows bunched at 18.25-19.25.

Fat lambs sold steady, some shorn offerings up 50 cents. Best No. 1 pelts returned 29.50. Woolies 28.50 and down. Ewes were steady.

OMAHA

Hogs: 10,000, barrows and gilts 25-75 lower; mostly 50 lower; 1-2 200-230 lb. 21.50; 1-3 190-240 lb. 20.25-21.25; 2-4 240-260 lb. 20.50-21.25; sows steady to mostly 25 lower; 330-600 lb. 18.25-19.25.

Steer Futures Prices Dive

Chicago (AP) — Liquidation stimulated by prospects of increased movement of cattle to market places sent steer futures prices down the daily limit on the Chicago Board of Trade on Wednesday.

There was a small recovery before the close in choice steer futures, but the full 150 point decline permissable by exchange rules was the heaviest since the trade in this commodity was started in October 1966.

In the grain pits, wheat and rye trade was comparatively light and prices mostly irregular to the close, when rye moved ahead while wheat closed mixed.

Corn and oats prices also closed on a generally mixed tone after trading on the high side for most of the session.

Soybeans, soybean oil and meal futures trade was largely local, and declines were posted in all three commodities after a small period of profit taking.

wheelock

When grain trade closed, wheat was unchanged to ¾ cent a bushel higher, May 1.28; corn was ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, May 1.16½; oats were ⅛ lower to ⅝ higher, May 65¾ cents; rye was ¼ to ⅞ higher, May 1.15½ and soybeans were ¼ to ⅜ lower, May 2.62⅝.

One-Act Plays Scheduled May 8

Peru — The one-act plays of the District II Nebraska School Activities Association will be presented at Peru State College, Thursday, May 8, according to R. D. Moore, contest director.

Other forensic activities were held on the Peru State College campus last week, but the one-act play portion of the contest was postponed because of the delay in the completion of the remodeling of the College Auditorium.

LT&T Annual Report Shows Net Profits Up

Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company president Thomas C. Woods Jr. reported at the annual stockholders meeting Wednesday that 1968 net profits before dividends and after taxes and interest were $2,707,720 up .11% from 1967.

The company's annual report also showed consolidated earnings per share of common stock outstanding were $1.75 compared with $1.74 in 1967. The number of shares of common stock outstanding at the end of both periods was 1,421,787.

Woods said telephone operating revenues increased 9.3% in 1968, while controllable telephone operating expenses, excluding taxes, depreciation and investment credit, increased 8.7% during the same period.

Vice President Tyler Ryan reported a gain of 6,526 telephones, which brought the total number of telephones to 196,794 at the end of 1968. Ryan said other projects completed in 1968 included the installation of a new long distance operating unit at Lincoln in December and a new "Toll Director" unit, also at Lincoln, in November.

In addition, a total of 173 toll circuits were added to existing circuit groups to increase the number of calling paths. Also during 1968, central office switching equipment was completely replaced at Peru, Brownville, Dwight and Elmwood. Additions were also made at Ashland, Hastings, Humboldt, Waverly and Lincoln. Approximately 300 miles of buried cable was placed throughout LT&T's territory at a cost of $690,000.

The final LT&T Direct Distance Dialing conversion was completed at Seward on April 7. Ryan noted that Nebraska's first DDD installation had occurred at LT&T's Beatrice exchange on June 16, 1957.

Company directors re-elected were Frank H. Woods, Thomas C. Woods Jr., Tyler Ryan, Philip M. Aitken, William I. Aitken, George B. Cook, William W. Cook, Edwin J. Faulkner, Merle M. Hale, Hal Lainson, Carl W. Olson, William W. Putney, Charles T. Stuart, Thomas H. Wake, and Burnham Yates.

The annual directors meeting followed the stockholders meeting. Corporate officials re-elected were Frank H. Woods, chairman of the board; Thomas C. Woods Jr., president; Tyler Ryan, vice president, operations; William I. Aitken, vice president and general counsel; Houghton Furr, secretary and treasurer; Laurence A. Connealy, controller; and Donald R. Swanson, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer.

Operating officials re-appointed were Charles P. Arnold, general commercial superintendent; M. C. Walker, chief engineer; C. E. Connors, general plant superintendent; Richard B. Hobson, general traffic superintendent; Roger K. Ghormley, chief planning engineer; and James E. Geist, personnel director.

Candidate Urges Review Of Policy For Street Paving

City Council candidate Hal Hasselbalch said Wednesday he recommends that the city re-examine its policy of installing asphalt-surfaced streets as opposed to concrete streets.

"In view of the serious damage suffered by Lincoln's streets over the past winter, I question whether taxpayers are getting the best streets for their money when the city installs asphalt instead of solid concrete streets such as East O St.," Hasselbalch said.

"Perhaps asphalt gives us more dustless streets in a shorter period of time due to the lower initial cost but the constant maintenance of asphalt-surfaced streets, it appears, may in the long run offset the initial savings," he said.

Hasselbalch said if elected he would request that the City Engineering Department furnish the council with statistics which would reveal the comparative costs of asphalt streets — including their maintenance for a period of years — as opposed to the cost of concrete streets.

ETV Will Broadcast Testimony By Rogers

Highlights of Secretary of State William P. Rogers' testimony Thursday before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee will be broadcast at 9 p.m. Thursday on the Nebraska Educational Television Network.

It is expected that the committee chairman, Senator William Fulbright, will question the former U.S. attorney general extensively on U.S. policy in Vietnam.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

One letter simply stands for another in this example, A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A X Y D L B A A X R

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
